CARSON TALKS PLAINLY OF THE STATE ISSUES

Attorney General Says the Republicans Are Strong Enough to Win Out.

WANTS THE LID LIFTED AT ONCE

Says People of Commonwealth Have a Right to See What Belongs to Them.

SPEAKS OF ENTERPRISE BANK

Stands Ready to Assist in Prosecuting Those Who Have Secured State Deposits for the Purpose of Becoming Borrowers of the Money—Predicts a Republican Victory.

Attorney General Hampton L. Carson last night delivered a masterly address to the Republicans of the South Side in which he fearlessly discussed the issues of this campaign and conclusively proved that the Republican party is big enough and strong enough to cure all ills.

Mr. Carson told his auditors that he hates and abhors grafters and all their works. He wants every act of wrongdoing exposed and the guilty man, no matter who he may be or what place he occupies, punished. He wants the lid lifted and lifted at once. It is false and wicked, said he, to allow any man to sit on the lid and prevent the people from seeing what belongs to them.

In the plainest language Mr. Carson declared that public money should be kept safe from the designs of irresponsible borrowers and that no man should be allowed to borrow state funds on worthless collateral. He told his audience that if money of the commonwealth was placed in certain banks for the purpose of loaning it to the men who had secured the deposit, a criminal offense had been committed.

Ready to Prosecute.

Should such cases be found in Pennsylvania, they will be called to the attention of the district attorney of the county. If he does not do his duty, Mr. Carson promises that he as attorney general will appoint men to prosecute.

It was shown that the Enterprise bank of Allegheny was purely a national institution over which the government of Pennsylvania had no control. Mr. Carson said there were indications that the president and directors of the bank had acted as dummies. "If they had any part in that transaction, do not let them whine like women or cry like babies, but stand up and take their share of the pounding.

"There are tens of thousands of honest men in the Republican party," said he, "and there are plenty of honest men in the service of the state. I believe these honest men will handle the present situation with entire integrity and with unflinching courage. I feel indignant that these honest men should be called on to face a situation full of shame and danger. The situation cannot be laid to their doors and is not traceable to their acts, but they will face the situation with all of its responsibilities.

After the Looters.

"They are like officers on a ship in the midst of a storm. They would be cowardly and recreant to their duty if they should abandon the deck of the vessel. If any men are to go overboard it should be those who looted the locker and not those who have an earnest desire to perform their duty and save the ship and the cargo for the benefit of its owners."

Mr. Carson made it plain that he has no sympathy with the spirit which condemns men in advance of the hearing. He promised that before the snows of February the revenue commissioners of the state will know of every dollar of state money and will have examined every bond that backs it. "Long before the next treasurer comes in," said he, "you will have the funds of your state under the protection of this honest and intrepid board."

In detail Mr. Carson went over the efforts of Gov. S. W. Pennypacker to give the state honest and efficient government. He pointed out the remedial legislation needed to safeguard the money of the commonwealth. He would limit the amount of a deposit, would limit the amount of a loan, and make it a criminal offense for anyone to offer anything of value for a state deposit, holding both the bank official and the intending borrower liable.

Will Right Wrongs.

The next legislature, says Mr. Carson, must accept the advice of Gov. Pennypacker given it in 1903 and in 1905 and give the people personal registration, apportionment and honest ballot law and the other legislation to which they are entitled. The Republican party is big and strong enough to right these wrongs, and Mr. Carson says they will be righted.

It remained for Mr. Carson to describe the opposition in this contest, and he does it cleverly in this wise:

"The Republican party has always been a party of progress and reform, and it will give the people these things, and we

HOMER L. CASTLE WILL BE TAKEN INTO COURT

Robert McAfee Announces That He Will Sue Him for Slander.

Robert McAfee, secretary of the commonwealth, will make Homer L. Castle answer in court for his numerous slanderous charges. The proceedings will not be instituted until after the election. Mr. McAfee is not bringing the suit for political reasons, but for the purpose of securing a vindication. He will prove the allegations made by Castle are false.

Castle has on several occasions made serious charges against Mr. McAfee in connection with the placing and handling of state deposits in the banks of the commonwealth. The secretary of the commonwealth returned to his home yesterday and at once retained William B. Rodgers as counsel to institute proceedings for slander against Castle. Mr. Rodgers has issued this statement:

"Mr. McAfee has consulted me relative to the proper course for him to pursue in view of certain statements made by Mr. Castle in one or more public speeches and which statements contain certain charges against Mr. McAfee in connection with his official conduct.

"I have advised him that the statements referred to give him a cause of action. I have also advised him that he had better do nothing until after this present election and then proceed. My reason for this is that an action now will be claimed as being for political purposes, which is entirely foreign to my view of the case. If suit be brought now, when it comes for trial it will still appear as one brought for political purposes and Mr. McAfee's case will probably be prejudiced by that at the trial. On the other hand, if suit be brought after election the case will be presented entirely clear of politics, and no argument can be made that the action was brought for any but the true purpose, viz., that of submitting to a court and jury the simple question of the truth or falsity of the charges as affecting Mr. McAfee's official conduct and whether the statements referred to are justifiable under any state of facts."

Castle declined to discuss the matter.

LACKAWAXEN CHILLS LOVE.

Girl Could Not Stand It and Wires Wedding Guests Not to Come.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(Special.)—Miss Gertrude Adele Hoffman, the beautiful daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Hoffman, telegraphed to her wedding guests at the eleventh hour: "Don't come; wedding's off."

Miss Hoffman had been engaged to Dr. Walter K. Shannon of Lackawaxen, Pa., and everything was in readiness for the ceremony when the strange announcement was made. One of the reasons that conduced to cool her love was the thought of having to live in Lackawaxen, her father said.

HOMESTEAD CHILDREN TOY WITH DYNAMITE

Thirty sticks of dynamite were found by children on Ammon street, Homestead, yesterday, and were being used for toys and thrown around recklessly when a policeman recognized the explosive and gathered it in. Some of it was lying on the brick pavement, where a passing wagon might have started it off. Where it came from is not known.

Dawes Must Tell What He Knows.

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—A subpoena to appear as a witness in the beef trust trial, November 20, was today served on Charles G. Dawes, former comptroller of the currency. Mr. Dawes has opposed in speeches the course of the government in prosecuting the packers. His public expressions have led to the issuance of a subpoena so that what he knows concerning the packers may be stated under oath.

Choate Will Speak for Jerome.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Joseph H. Choate former ambassador to England, tonight offered his services to speak in behalf of William Travers Jerome for district attorney during the rest of the campaign. A meeting will be held at Carnegie hall next Wednesday night at which Thomas Thatcher, partner of Mr. Choate, will preside and Mr. Choate will be the principal speaker.

Republicans Nominate Jerome.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—William Travers Jerome has been unanimously nominated for district attorney by the Republican county convention.

CASTLE CANNOT STUMP AGAIN WITH BERRY AS MATE

Democracy and Prohibition Fail to Blend in This Campaign.

WHISKY AND WATER

Combination Is Not Approved by the Old-Time Members of Democratic Party.

HOMER L. WILL GO IT ALONE

There is no longer any doubt that Prohibition and Democracy will not blend. The evidence comes from two sources, the Democratic county executive committee and Homer L. Castle, Prohibition candidate for judge of the superior court.

Castle was to have stood on the platform in Allegheny Carnegie music hall at a meeting held under Democratic auspices tonight and "poured himself out." He made public announcement of this fact from the stump in Greenville and Washington. Yesterday he had to announce that at the request of the Democrats he would not appear in Allegheny because the Democrats did not want a Prohibition orator at their meeting.

Throughout this campaign The Gazette has pointed out many evidences of the failure of Democracy and Prohibition to blend. The Democrats who take their whisky and politics straight have been objecting to climbing on the "water wagon" with William H. Berry, especially after he selected that life-long maligner of the Democratic party, Homer L. Castle, as his driver.

Democrats Objected.

All over the state Democrats have been refusing to link up with the Castle-Berry aggregation. In Allegheny county much difficulty has been experienced and at Uniontown Berry held his meeting at the door of a barroom in the hope of demonstrating that he was for the liquor interests if he thought the Prohibitionists did not see him. He did not even take Castle to Uniontown.

A few nights ago William J. Brennen, a hot and cold supporter of Berry, was engaged in rounding up the Democratic saloonkeepers for the candidate for treasurer. He found a great deal of difficulty in the task and when the announcement was made that Castle was to speak at a Democratic rally in Allegheny, the whole bunch jumped over the traces.

In preparing for the Allegheny meeting, it was decided to have John Marron as one of the orators. He was to furnish the fireworks and broil the opposition. Marron has some leanings toward the Prohibition party, but "Jimmy" McKay vouched for him that he was not of the offensive down-with-the-rum-traffic stripe. Marron conceived the idea of putting Castle in as one of the speakers. He issued the invitation and at that time Castle was willing to speak from any high chair or store box in the state.

Thought It Was Vapor.

It was from the papers the Democrats received the first intimation that Castle, who has been denouncing the saloon in all parts of the state and for years holding the Democratic party up as a horrible example of the rum habit, was to mount the Democratic rostrum Saturday night. When he said it at Greenville, the Democrats just thought it was like the balance of the vaporings of the "firebrand." There was a repetition of the announcement from the Washington meeting and "Billy" Brennen started to take notice. He found Castle had been invited to speak and would keep the engagement.

The Democratic executive committee was gotten together yesterday morning. The chief subject under discussion was whether Democracy and Prohibition could blend. John F. O'Toole made a learned argument on the impossibility of such a mixture and Denny Boyle came in with the old statement, "That water is all right for steam-making purposes, but I cannot vouch for it for anything else." "Jimmy" McKay said the boys in Allegheny would stand for Marron, but Cas-

KHARKOFF IN STATE OF WAR

Prince Hilkoff, Russian Minister of Railways.

Cossack Regiment at Warsaw on Parade.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 27.—That the present situation cannot end without bloodshed is the conviction prevailing in the higher government circles, which from moment to moment are expecting a conflict between the troops and the revolutionists in St. Petersburg, and news of trouble in the provinces, especially at Kharkoff, which has been declared in a state of war. The governor of Kieff has been instructed to take all necessary measures to restore order, which the local government and the commander of the troops are unable to maintain.

One of the most prominent members of the emperor's council today said, with every evidence of deep emotion:

"The situation is a grievous and a painful one and I see no way out of it except by the employment of armed force. Please do not misunderstand me. I look upon the prospect with tears, but it is becoming more and more evident that the troops will be compelled to fire. I can see no other possible outcome. The revolutionists and terrorists are absolutely bent on forcing a conflict upon us and nothing we can do will satisfy them. The extension of the suffrage and the right of assembly will be nothing to them. They are determined to have bloodshed, and we cannot avoid the issue. It is a frightful disease from which Russia is suffering, and, sad and painful as it is, the government must act with force."

Witte Takes Charge Today.

The minister said that the law creating a responsible cabinet, promulgated by M. Witte's nomination as premier, will be announced tomorrow. Under the statute the premier may or may not hold a special portfolio. Count Witte spent almost the entire day with the emperor at Peterhof, and he has not confided to his colleagues whether he intends to take the ministry of the interior or the ministry of finance or no portfolio at all. The whole of the ministerial body is also in ignorance as to whether they will retain their places under the new leader.

Realizing that any attempt to interfere with the monster mass meeting tonight would inevitably lead to a bloody outbreak, Gen. Trepoff, who announced during the afternoon that he intended to prevent the assembly, instructed the police to close their eyes to the fact, and the meeting, which was attended by be-

PATTISON'S STAR IS FAST WANING ON HORIZON

Has Been Going Backward Since Height of Popularity Was Reached Two Weeks Ago.

Special Telegram From
L. W. STRAYER, Staff Correspondent.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 27.—When George B. Cox of Cincinnati recently told The Gazette that Pattison, the Democratic candidate for governor, was at the height of his popularity and strength two weeks ago, and that he has been going backward ever since, he stated a fact that is being proven by developments every day. At the beginning of this campaign the Democrats were fortunate in having things pretty much their own way. By the Anti-Saloon league raising a hue and cry over the Brannock law, a tide of prejudice was directed toward Herrick that for a time threatened to swamp him. But now the tide has turned and many of those misguided people who were loud in their denunciation of the governor, are equally loud in his praise.

The Democratic state committee has been depending on Gov. Joseph Folk of Missouri as its trump card. It has depended on him to come into the state and talk against bossism and graft in such a pointed way as to arouse more prejudice, especially against the Hamilton county organization over which

GOVERNOR GENERAL ORDERS ARMED AGITATORS SHOT DOWN

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WARSAW, Oct. 27.—The governor general has ordered the troops to shoot every agitator caught armed. The police have ordered all shops to be closed at 7 o'clock, and all persons appearing on the street after 8 o'clock at night will be arrested and searched. The military are guarding the street corners. The newspapers will not appear tomorrow. A workman, a woman and a child were killed on Mila street today by a soldier, who fired a number of shots at a workman who was posting incendiary proclamations.

The strike is in full swing at the factories here and the agitators are urging the employes of the banks and insurance and commercial houses to leave their work. The workmen are holding big meetings without interference on the part of the police.

MOSCOW, Oct. 27.—In view of the alarming situation a special session of the douma has been convoked to sit night and day. The mayor will convoke tomorrow in the town hall representatives of the nobility, scholastic institutions and the different corporations, unions and professions to discuss the situation.

The strikers are touring the factories where work is going on, smashing the windows and demanding the stoppage of work.

George B. Cox presides. Mr. Folk has agreed to come for two days and one of his four speeches is to be made in Cincinnati.

But on second thought the Democratic state committee sees a possible danger in the visit of the Missouri governor. It now fears some unthinking person will ask him what he thinks of Gov. Herrick's course in vetoing the Chisholm bill, a measure that proposed to legalize pool selling in the state. As a matter of fact, Gov. Folk had the same issue presented to him in Missouri and took precisely the same course Gov. Herrick did when he vetoed the Chisholm bill.

The committee is not afraid of Mr. Folk bringing out this point of his own volition, for he is a politician and knows the game better than that; but it fears some unfeeling newspaper man or some persistent inquirer after truth in one of the Folk meetings will ask the question point blank. And if this happens the committee is afraid of the result, for Mr. Folk has the reputation of being frank and not inclined to dodge.

Another galling thing to the Democratic state committee is its inability to secure the services of James E. Campbell in this campaign. Mr. Campbell was the last Democratic governor Ohio had. He is no longer a resident of the state, but is practicing law in New York. It was thought if he would take the stump and speak for Pattison, it might do some good.

Mr. Campbell received the invitation, but was obliged to decline by reason of a pressure of business. He had not time. He did find time to go to Chicago and talk rate legislation at a public function, however, and incidentally he indorsed the views of President Roosevelt on this subject. But he was too busy to help out the Democrats in his old state. The committee may still have hopes of getting him, but they do not appear to be strong hopes.

A significant fact much commented on is that out of the large number of candidates who opposed Mr. Pattison for the Democratic nomination for governor, only one has thus far taken an active part in the campaign. And he was not very active, merely presiding at a meeting in his home town. Judge S. M. Hunter of Newark is the exception.

The fact can no longer be concealed that the Democratic campaign is growing stale and flat. Republicans who wandered off the reservation at the beginning are getting back under cover. Democrats who have become disgusted with the tactics employed by their party managers are grumbling, and thousands of good, earnest Christian men who were carried away by the cry of "the saloon against the home," have studied the situation to good purpose and will vote for Herrick.

Secretary Shaw at Portsmouth.

PORTSMOUTH, O., Oct. 27.—Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw tonight addressed a large and enthusiastic meeting of Republicans at the Grand opera house. Prominent Republicans from all over Southern Ohio were present. Congressman Bannon introduced Mr. Shaw, whose address aroused the audience to a high pitch of enthusiasm.

WANTS NIGHT CLASSES IN CITY HIGH SCHOOLS

Director Hamerschlag Points Out Example of Trinity and Says Work Is Duplicated.

Director Arthur A. Hamerschlag of the Carnegie Technical schools went to New York last evening for the purpose of inspecting the new building of St. George's trade school and to meet some people who may become members of the faculty of the woman's school and the school of applied art in the Carnegie "Tech." He will return Monday.

"I look forward to the time within the next few years when the Pittsburgh High schools will give night courses," he said. "In this way they will relieve the Technical school of the necessity of duplicating much of the instruction now given at the High schools in the day time. We have found it necessary to do much work at night which should be done in the city schools for those who cannot attend the day classes."

WABASH MEN LET OUT.

James H. McRoberts and Samuel B. Cooley Receive Notices of Dismissal from the Road.

Two high-salaried men were let out of the Wabash service here yesterday, and another resigned to accept service with another company. The men affected are James H. McRoberts, who has been consulting engineer of the West Side Belt road, Samuel B. Cooley, right-of-way agent of the same road, and E. N. Gay, who has been chief draughtsman and assistant engineer, Mr. Gay having resigned.

Vice President Worthington and other officers are out on the week's inspection trip. The letter advising Messrs. McRoberts and Cooley that their "services are no longer required," was received from Mr. Worthington yesterday afternoon. It is understood the release of the two men and their stenographer, Miss Lucy Whitney, was to be effective November 1, but the men retired from the service at once.

CLAIM THEY HAVE 50,000 MAJORITY

Dr. Pearson, However, Is Not on List, Despite City Party's Assertions.

IS SUPPORTING REPUBLICANS

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Press Building, PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27.

Franklin S. Edmonds, chairman of the City party, today claimed a majority of 50,000 for the so-called "reform" ticket. If claims will win, the City party candidates will be elected without opposition. At present the Wanamaker managers are claiming everything in sight, and some things not in sight.

The North American this morning on its first page quotes Dr. Leonard Pearson, state veterinarian, and member of the board of health, as appearing at a City party meeting and opposing the regular Republican ticket. He is quoted as having scored Philadelphia Republican leaders.

Dr. Pearson tonight in a signed statement denies the story published by the North American and other papers in the Wanamaker syndicate. He says he did not attend the City party meeting and was home when it was held. Dr. Pearson says he has always been a Republican and is supporting the regular Republican ticket. A score of such instances of misrepresentation could be cited daily.

Even the policeman in politics establishes a limit to his duty to the mayor. Reserve Officer John Burnside today tendered his resignation in a letter sent to Director Potter. The officer said he had felt it his duty to the mayor to turn in for the City party when ordered to do so. Not only had he promised to vote that ticket but he had tried to have his neighbors join with him. They refused. Then he was censured because of his failure to convert them. Under the circumstances he decided to resign.

Republican leaders predict the parade tomorrow night will eclipse any which ever took place in the city. Not only has every local band been engaged, but they are coming from New Jersey towns, Reading, Pottstown, Allentown, Lancaster and a score of other interior cities. It is said over 30,000 men will be in line. An immense amount of fireworks has been procured. "Reform" newspapers are trying to prevent citizens from witnessing the parade by predicting riots and other dangerous demonstrations.

Mayor Weaver is scheduled to make speeches every night next week. Thus far he has confined himself to his original address when he pledged his administration to the defeat of the Republican ticket. Judge Gordon is so busy Coaching Castle and Berry he cannot devote his time to the preparation of campaign speeches. This may have a bearing on the lack of resourcefulness shown by Weaver. Editor Joseph Rodgers, who wrote the mayor's inaugural address, is on the stomp for the Republican ticket.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Secretary Taft and his party started on their Panama trip tonight, leaving here at 6:30 o'clock by boat for Norfolk. They will transfer to the United States Cruiser Columbia at Old Point tomorrow morning. Mr. Taft was overwhelmed with work up to the time of his departure. In the forenoon he went over the estimated expenditures of the canal commission since July 1. It is expected the purchase of the necessary plant to build the canal will be completed by January or June of next year.

Secretary Taft will make a comprehensive personal investigation of conditions at Panama and inform himself at first hand of the needs of the canal to be presented to congress. As the cabinet officer responsible for the well being of the canal zone and work of construction, Mr. Taft wants information of conditions to give to the committees of congress for guidance in future legislation.

A number of officials connected with the Taft fortification board accompanied Secretary Taft to secure preliminary information as to needed fortifications at the terminals of the canal. The party consisted of Secretary Taft, Gen. John P. Story, Col. Clarence R. Edwards, Lieut. Col. William M. Black, Maj. George W. Goethals and Lieut. Mark Brooks.

Y. M. C. A.'s Opening Concert.

A large audience attended the first of a series of entertainments arranged by the Young Men's Christian association in Old City hall last evening. The association has arranged for six entertainments during the coming winter. The Rosa Linde concert company was the attraction for last evening, and every number on the program was given in excellent style. A program of 11 numbers was rendered.

tween 15,000 and 20,000 persons, passed off without a conflict. The troops stationed around the building were withdrawn, but in the court, the city bourse and other nearby buildings half a dozen companies of Cossacks and strong forces of infantry and dragoons were held in readiness.

Granted Right to Assemble.

Big meetings were also held in the Technological and Art institute and in two engineering schools. The students at neither of these meetings took a prominent part in the deliberations, yielding the hospitality of the college buildings without attempting to cloak the meetings with the guise of student assemblies. With the hope of avoiding further meetings at the university, Gen. Trepoff later placed halls in three different parts of the city at the disposition of the people for meetings, thereby practically conceding the demands of the agitators of the right of assembly.

The scene outside the university beggars description. In the great open air court, with no light except a few flickering candles, on a hastily constructed tribune, from 4,000 to 5,000 workmen, students and professional men stood wedged together in the cold and wet snowfall, listening to revolutionary harangues.

Another great meeting was held in the central hall of the university and scores of smaller meetings of separate trades and professions were held in the other rooms of the building. Halls were set aside for teachers, physicians, bank clerks, journalists, printers, pharmacists, women, engineers, lawyers, tailors and persons of other callings and trades, and a room was even set aside for non-commissioned officers of the army, but only a half dozen of these were present.

Government Employes Strike.

In all the sections a strong minority urged conservatism, but these were carried from their feet by the general enthusiasm and resolutions for a general strike in every branch of social activity were adopted with a hurrah. Even those in the government service, whose meeting was largely attended, were possessed of the same spirit and passed resolutions to stop all work in the government departments tomorrow. This probably will include the government telegraph agency and may put the telegraph and cable service out of commission.

The population of the capital is disturbed by rumors of expected grave disorders. Measures for the protection of life and property have been taken and I therefore ask the people to attach no credence to these rumors. If, however, any disturbances are attempted they will be put down at their inception before they have time to assume a serious character. I have given orders to the troops and police to suppress any such attempts immediately and in the most vigorous manner and the military have been directed to fire with ball cartridge if the crowds offer resistance. No blank cartridges will be used. I find it necessary to give this warning to the people so that every person joining a disorderly crowd may know the risk he takes. In order to avoid grave consequences prudent citizens should not join gatherings having a disorderly purpose.

Capital Without Trains.

The last link of the railroads binding the capital with the outer world was broken late at night, when the Finnish railroad suspended service between St. Petersburg and the Finnish border.

The coalition council of the St. Petersburg university, comprising representatives of both the students and the teaching staff, have issued a manifesto calling on the students to exert their whole strength in work both day and night for the revolution—to place themselves completely at its service, and especially to hold the doors of the university open to all political meetings.

Twenty representatives of the revolutionary committee visited all the St. Petersburg banks today and demanded the cessation of work. All of them were arrested in the Russian Bank of Foreign Trade. The Siberian and Azoff banks were closed at the request of the revolutionaries.

It is reported that many persons were wounded during the dispersal of a meeting at Novocherkasska, the capital of the province of Don Cossacks.

Private reports received here are said to confirm the stories of the mutiny on board the battleship Catherin II. and the destruction by incendiaries of the battleship Patehemon, formerly the Kniaz Potemkine, but the authorities do not confirm the rumors and telegrams of inquiry remain unanswered.

ODESSA, Oct. 27.—The export trade of Odessa is practically stopped as it has been impossible to load steamers since traffic on the railroad lines connecting the railways with the harbor has been suspended.

TIFLIS, CAUCASIA, Oct. 27.—The revolutionists have issued a proclamation calling on the recruits not to join the colors, but to support the revolution with all their power.

PECULIAR DEFENSE MADE AGAINST ADMIRALTY SUIT

Judge Joseph Buffington of the United States district court, will have to settle the question as to how a boat that does not navigate can be engaged in navigation. A craneman and a fireman are suing for wages alleged to be due from the dredgeboat Southern. The case is an action in admiralty. The defense claims the boat, not having motive power of its own, did not navigate and, therefore, could not come within the limits of the admiralty laws.

LITTLE KANAWHA DEAL IS CLOSED

Joseph Ramsey, Jr., Says That the Formal Transfer Will Soon Take Place.

ELECTION CONTEST NOT SURE

"The sale of the Little Kanawha syndicate's properties to the new interests represented by Col. J. M. Schoonmaker is a closed matter. The deal had been concluded before the suit was entered, and the formal transfer of the properties to the new owners should take place in a short time."

This statement was made at the East Liberty station last evening by Joseph Ramsey, Jr., former president of the Wabash, who had spent the day in this city, and was leaving for New York.

Mr. Ramsey said that while the decision in the Cincinnati court against John S. Jones, of Chicago, was a victory for the syndicate managers, he had regretted that the case had taken the turn it did, the court deciding it was without jurisdiction. He had wished to go on the stand and make denial of what he termed the "outrageous charges" contained in Mr. Jones' complaint.

"The syndicate's properties will change hands as soon as the new owners are ready," he said. "That should be in a few weeks."

Mr. Ramsey said that the main cause of his visit to Pittsburgh yesterday was his wish to stop over here during the day in order to avoid the all-day ride to New York. He had no conferences concerning the Little Kanawha matter and claimed that there was nothing of interest in his stay.

When asked concerning his plans regarding a fight in court against the recent annual election of the Wabash directors at Toledo, he said:

"I have reached no decision on this matter as yet. Even in case I should take the election into court it would be mainly for the purpose of establishing the important point of the right to vote the debenture bonds cumulatively. There is no doubt that under the laws of Ohio I was elected, I think.

"It is evident that the contention regarding the right of the same men to manage two parallel and competing railroad properties had its effect. Mr. Gould was not elected president of the Wabash or chairman of the board. His election to the chairmanship of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company appears to me as a mistake. This is one of the very largest shippers over the Missouri Pacific, and his position merely awakens the same questions which arose concerning Paul Morton's connection with that company and the Santa Fe.

"There is nothing which I can say as yet regarding my future plans. They are definite, but not ready for announcement."

PRESIDENT NOW FAR OUT AT SEA

Wireless Telegraphy Being Used to Keep Track of Chief Executive.

THE COLLISION UPSET PARTY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

PENSACOLA, Oct. 27.—The cruiser West Virginia with President Roosevelt on board was spoken to by wireless telegraphy, the ship at the time being about 300 miles off. The message was received at the Pensacola navy yard and stated that the West Virginia would reach Key West Saturday night.

UNITED STATES FLAGSHIP WEST VIRGINIA, Oct. 27.—(Via New Orleans, La., Oct. 27.—By Wireless.)—At 11 o'clock last evening, through confusion of signals, the fruit steamer Esparta collided with the lighthouse tender Magnolia, which was conveying the President, Secretary Loeb and Dr. Rixey to the cruiser West Virginia. The rail and port bow of the Magnolia was damaged and two or three holes made in the hull below the water line. No one was hurt, the Magnolia immediately on being struck was beached, her bow being high and dry.

A boat was immediately put off for the nearest telephone, about a mile and a half away, and the order given to head the Ivy off at Pilot town and have her return for the President and his party. The transfer was made at 3 o'clock this morning.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—So far as the official records show President Roosevelt on leaving the south on the West Virginia, is the first chief magistrate which this country has had to go beyond its territorial limits. The attention of some of the legal authorities here having been called to that fact, they were unanimously of the opinion that in going beyond the three-mile limit the President has in no sense vacated his office, even temporarily. They point out there is really nothing in the Constitution prohibiting the president from leaving American territory.

LINCOLN PARTY WILL GET PLACE ON BALLOT

Judges Shafer and Frazer Gives It Until Noon of Monday to Amend Defects in Nomination Papers.

Judges Shafer and Frazer have decided that the Lincoln party nomination papers shall be accepted by the county commissioners after they have been properly amended, with the exception of those for the nomination of a director of the poor and the party leaders are given until Monday to make the proper amendments. This means that if properly amended the new party, which nominates the entire county Republican ticket and placed William H. Berry for state treasurer at its head, shall be given a place on the ballot despite the hard work of the attorneys representing the Citizens-Democratic party to knock it out.

The decision was accompanied by an exhaustive opinion which decides the status of nomination papers in this county in the future. The order made provides that all the qualifications of the signers shall be vouched for by affidavit of at least five signers; that the papers are defective where the name of the city in which residence is had does not appear; that the papers relating to the nomination of the director of the poor are not valid, but that this does not affect the other papers.

The contention of the Lincoln party leaders was that all the papers were filed together as one paper, and the court holds that this is true. The nomination paper consists of 55 sheets, some of which are fastened together in bundles and some are single sheets, but all are numbered consecutively, and they were placed together in order and filed together as one paper.

"While it seems to us the better practice would be to fasten papers securely together before filing," said the court, "we are of the opinion that the failure to do so does not make them invalid or even so defective as to require them to be amended in that respect."

CARRIES DEAD BABE HOME.

Child Dies as Train Leaves Pittsburgh and Corpse Rests in Mother's Lap All Way to Wisconsin.

MILWAUKEE, WIS., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—For the entire distance between Pittsburgh and Kenosha, Wis., Mrs. Adolph Bauer carried the body of her four-months-old child that it might not be interred in a cemetery far from the home of the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Bauer and their three children had been in New York and had just enough money to reach Kenosha, their home. While the train was in Pittsburgh the child was taken with convulsions and died in the arms of the mother in the car. The parents had not enough money to permit stopping over to have the body prepared for shipment, so for the rest of the journey the mother carried the dead babe on her lap.

BELIEVE VICTIM IS WIFE OF VENDOME'S PROPRIETOR

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27.—A dying woman was found along the tracks of the Philadelphia & Reading railway at Oxford street entrance to Fairmont Park late tonight, with both legs severed and her head was crushed. She died at Grant hospital. From papers found on the body the police believe the woman is the wife of Louis L. Todd, proprietor of the Hotel Marlboro and Vendome of New York.

Pattison Speaks at Steubenville.

STEUBENVILLE, O., Oct 27.—(Special.)—Hon. John M. Pattison, Democratic candidate for governor, closed a day's campaigning tonight with a meeting at the opera house. Hon. John A. Rice of Canton and Mr. Pattison were the speakers. They denounced George Cox of Cincinnati and declared the state is being looted by bosses and grafters.

STILL PROBING BANK'S AFFAIRS

May Be Several Weeks Before a Full and Official Statement Can Be Made.

LEGAL ACTION BEING TAKEN

It has become apparent in following the investigation of the Enterprise bank of Allegheny that until Receiver Cunningham completes his report, or until some legal action is taken by the department of justice, very little of the real truth of the bank's condition and Cashier Clark's operations will be known to the public.

Each of the federal agents having part in the examination has repeatedly declared that it was not within his province to give information concerning the work to any one but their superiors, the heads of the departments of justice and the currency. Every one of the bank's directors has asserted time and again that nothing is being told to the board more than is made public through the press. Counsel for the bank, the comptroller of the currency and the attorney general have consistently refused to divulge any important information or make any predictions, and according to their statements it is only a question of time now until the affair is cleared up and some action taken.

Directors Confer With Receiver.

Since realizing it was useless to seek information from the federal officers, the directors of the bank have lapsed into a state of patient inactivity. Occasionally the presence of one or more is required by Receiver Cunningham, and at such times they visit the bank. Directors William T. Bradberry, William A. Selling, Charles F. Slifer and Fred Gwinner, Jr., representing his father, called yesterday at the bank and talked for a few minutes with Judge F. F. Oldham, who is giving legal advice to Receiver Cunningham.

Judge Oldham and Special Examiner E. P. Moxey spent most of the day at the bank. Mr. Moxey reiterated his statement concerning the confused condition of the bank's books and said that in many instances it was necessary to go back months and even years in tracing to their origin certain financial transactions. Such work is slow, according to Mr. Moxey, and consumes a lot of time.

Receiver Cunningham yesterday brought suit against John F. Klein to recover $330 said to be due on a note with interest since August 26 last. The note is dated May 28, 1905, is signed by John F. Klein and indorsed by T. J. Garlick. According to Mr. Cunningham's statement, the note was transferred before maturity by said indorsers to the Enterprise National bank, and when presented for payment at maturity payment was refused and the note was protested.

Subpoenas for Clark Inquest.

Coroner Joseph G. Armstrong has issued subpoenas to be served on Frederick Gwinner, president of the Enterprise bank, Receiver John B. Cunningham, Mrs. T. Lee Clark and all the bank's directors, for the inquest to be held on Monday morning at 11 o'clock. Cashier T. Lee Clark committed suicide on the morning of October 18 by firing a bullet through his head.

An equity suit was started yesterday by D. L. Patterson to restrain Lemuel S. Cook and the Guarantee Title and Trust Company from selling or negotiating a certificate of Duquesne National bank stock dated February 28, 1878, in the name of D. L. Patterson. The latter charges the late T. Lee Clark with hypothecating the stock, which was deposited with the Enterprise bank as collateral for a loan. A preliminary injunction was issued and the case will be heard at 10 a. m. next Tuesday.

United States District Attorney John W. Dunkle yesterday received from Assistant Attorney General Purdy at Washington a letter informing him that the department had assigned Edward F. Moxey as special bank examiner, to report to Mr. Dunkle any facts that would warrant criminal prosecutions in the Enterprise bank matter. Mr. Moxey, although an employe of the treasury department, is now on the payroll of the law department and has nothing officially to do with the treasury department. Mr. Moxey had already reported the day before to Mr. Dunkle.

Marron Explains His Course.

Many persons are displaying interest in the case which Attorney John Marron says he will take into the equity courts to recover a number of shares of Crucible Steel stock. At least a dozen business men have expressed their wonder to him that an owner of stock, deposited as collateral or in trust, can be deprived of his property by the act of a thief, the thief's act being recognized in business and in the courts. It was explained to them that this was possible, no matter how unreasonable it seemed.

"It happens in stock transactions," said Mr. Marron. "Where a broker, we'll say, has clear and undoubted authority to sell, transfer or pledge stock placed in his hands, then the title of the purchaser is good as against the original owner. There is no doubt about that, and the courts have so decided. But that is not the case with my client. There the temporary holder of the stock was a trustee of the owner. This trust connection of his was apparent on the face of things; the purchaser was in a position to know, and was bound to know, the nature of his position as a trustee of the owner.

"An equity proceeding is the only kind that can be brought in this case. Of course, we made a demand for the stock. In proceedings of this kind the demand is essential, for without making the demand we could not proceed with our suit. The demand was refused and we will bring suit."

FREE REIN FOR FUN MAKERS.

Director Moore Gives Instructions to Preserve Property by Allow Frolicking.

Safety Director Moore has decided to permit the fun-makers to have rein on Halloween night. Yesterday he directed the following communication to Superintendent of Police Wallace:

On Halloween night, Tuesday, October 31, 1905, our streets will be considerably crowded with people out for their usual Halloween festivities. It will be necessary for extra patrolmen to be detailed in the crowded thoroughfares, and it will also be necessary for more than the ordinary precautions to be taken by the patrolmen. You are hereby directed to issue orders to all patrolmen to permit any reasonable fun or enjoyment, but the officers must bear in mind that no destruction of property of any kind shall be permitted, and they will be held strictly accountable if there is any negligence or indifference on their part relative to the protection of property, life or limb. The persons caught destroying any property or injuring life or limb must be arrested and prosecuted, according to law.

Deaths of a Week.

There were 123 deaths in Pittsburgh last week. Of this number 18 died from pneumonia, five from scarlet fever, three from diphtheria, six from typhoid fever and 12 met death from violence. There were reported during the same period 16 cases of croup and diphtheria, 28 cases of scarlet fever and 52 cases of typhoid fever. The following cases were reported yesterday: Scarlet fever 2, diphtheria 3 and typhoid fever 8.

No Information Against Mrs. Cunliffe.

The detectives working on the Cunliffe case refused to say whether any more arrests will be made in the case. They profess to believe that Mrs. Cunliffe has knowledge of where the remaining $10,000 is. General Agent C. H. Hiner of the Adams Express company said that no information had been made against Mrs. Cunliffe, who is now in Hartford, Conn., and as far as he knew no proceedings would be brought against her.

Slag Cars Fall 70 Feet.

Four steel hopper cars, loaded with slag, fell from the Green Springs trestle on the Union railroad yesterday. The cars dropped 70 feet into the Monongahela river. A lever in the locomotive cab struck the engineer, Samuel Jones, on the chest, injuring him painfully. About 50 feet of the upper part of the trestle was destroyed.

WYMAN ORATORS TALK GLIBLY OF REFORM

Big Payroll Meeting Addressed by Larkin, Shafer and Others in Allegheny.

"Give the Citizens party another chance; give the Citizens party full power," pleaded a Citizens party orator at the big payroll mass meeting in Carnegie hall, Allegheny, last night.

The speaker was Theodore L. Schafer who said he was a labor leader and represented "organized and unorganized labor." Shafer and R. H. Jackson were the chief attractions.

Mr. Jackson, by reason of his position as chairman of the Citizens organization on the North Side, opened the meeting and refused to allow any person else to share with him the doubtful honor of presiding. He said he would not make a speech and then talked for three-quarters of an hour. He then introduced Harry L. Goehring. The speaker made some statements that should have been startling. One bibulous individual in the audience got on his feet in the attempt to rival the speaker, but was finally pulled down.

Mayor Wyman occupied a seat in the front row on the stage. Charles Justice, Director Scandrett's "private" man, was in charge of the arrangements of the meeting and attended to the seating of the payroll.

Speeches were made by L. K. Porter, brother of the city solicitor, who talked on grafting in Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Pittsburgh, but missed Allegheny. S. S. Robertson made a few apologies for the ticket and J. Alexander Oempster, the candidate for county commissioner, was introduced to give tone to the meeting. He showed a sense of humor by calling upon the audience to sing "My Country." A. K. Stevenson, who says he is a lawyer from Braddock, spoke and then the chairman introduced John B. Larkin. Mr. Larkin pulled out his manuscript containing the usual flood of statistics and then the bulk of the audience fled.

POSTMASTERS WILL BE TREATED UPON MERIT

Mr. Cortelyou Addresses the National League on His Views of Department Conduct.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The convention of the National League of Postmasters of fourth-class offices of the United States came to an end this afternoon when the delegates were received by Postmaster General Cortelyou.

After welcoming them Mr. Cortelyou made an address in which he reiterated the attitude of the postoffice department to organize within its ranks and discussed contemplated changes in organization and administration methods.

He pointed out that organizations within the department to receive its sanction in any degree must have for their object improvements in the service or be of a purely fraternal or beneficial character and that he recognized every employe as an individual to be appointed, advanced, transferred and in all respects treated upon merit.

FACTS

Pittsburgh Pharmacal Co.

Gentlemen—My wife was unable to eat anything that thoroughly agreed with her for 15 months.

She had severe pains through her body after meals, caused by gas raising from the undigested food.

A very poor appetite. Lost in weight rapidly. At times greatly depressed in spirits owing to suffering and inability of physicians to relieve her.

Three of the best known physicians in this city were in charge of her case at different times.

Tried Lactonene Dyspepsia Tablets for the first time about three months ago. Have not had a prescription or a visit from a doctor since the first dose.

Can eat everything now. She is gaining in weight and enjoys very best of health.

Children's Day in Toyland

THIS is the day for the prattlers to point out what they want Santa Claus to bring them. Don't deny them the privilege of a day's pleasure. Mothers surely have time enough to spare an hour or so for this delightful occasion to the little folks, and we urge them to give the idea some thought. As for the larger children, they are welcome. Come and look through this gorgeous fairyland and see what we have gathered from the four quarters of the globe.

Where Is the Best Place to Buy Boys' Clothing?

A store where nothing but guaranteed all-wool clothing is sold.
A store where the choice of material and style is so large that it is an easy matter to find something to suit quickly.
A store which fixes its own standard of tailoring instead of accepting what manufacturers choose to hand out.
A store that sells at a reasonable price.
This store could sell Boys' Clothing cheaper if we didn't insist on and enforce all these conditions.

Norfolk and Double-breasted Suits, in mixed cheviots and worsteds, 8 to 17 years, $5.00 to $16.50.
Sailor and Russian Suits, in a variety of styles, cheviot, worsted and serge, $5.00 to $10.00.
Fancy Dress Overcoats, oxford or black, with single-breasted fly-fronts, $5.00, $7.50, $10.00 and up to $20.00. Sizes 8 to 16 years.
Reefers of imported cheviot with gilt buttons, $10.00. Domestic cheviot, $7.50 and $8.50.
Chinchilla Reefers, sizes 4 to 12 years, $5.00, $7.50, $8.50, $10.00, $12.00 and $15.00.
Russian Overcoats, in gray and brown mixed cheviots, plain blue and tan kersey, $5.00, $7.50, $8.50 and $10.00. Sizes 3 to 8 years.

A Halloween Special for Boys. Boys' Rough Rider Suits for Halloween wear—sizes 3 to 12 years. Just the thing to ramble 'round in next Tuesday evening. Special at..... A Suit. 55c

"Safe and Sound."

DAVID HARUM told a great deal about any horse he wanted to trade, but he didn't tell it all. It is easy to fill a page with words about clothing, how fine and beautiful it is, how many dollars less it is than the other stores that sell clothing—and never reach its defects.

Under the brightly focused limelight of publicity most any clothing has a fine appearance—under the bright sunlight, as it pours into our second floor, there is a difference. That difference is what makes our Totally Different Clothing.

Under the beneficent sunlight, the beauty of the fabrics, the fit, the style, all may readily be seen; but the real heart of the clothing can't be seen even there.

Our Totally Different Clothing is built to stand the wear; it is built of all-wool materials; it is hand-tailored; it is safe and sound.

Those are the attributes of our Totally Different Clothing. It is not alone different in construction, but is also different in price—lower, much lower, than such grades are sold for anywhere else in the city.

Attorney General Hampton L. Carson, in his speech to the South Side Republicans last night, strongly and clearly defined the position of the Republican party with reference to recent local occurrences. It was a speech which should go ringing throughout the state, effectually refuting the lying statements which have been circulated by enemies of the party. With The Gazette, Mr. Carson believes "the lid should be lifted and lifted at once. Every ramification of wrong-doing should be pursued to the end. I believe that the public money should be safe from the designs of irresponsible borrowers and that no scheme should be worked by which it is possible for men who cannot borrow elsewhere to obtain state funds on worthless collateral or irresponsible names."

The would-be character assassins, who have set malignant and baseless rumors afloat, were handled without gloves by Mr. Carson. "I have no sympathy with that spirit which condemns men in advance of hearing, which condemns anybody and everybody, which treats as absolutely worthless the positive denials of men charged with the commission of offenses, and which, in a wild spirit of excitement and hysteria, attempts to put into execution those vicious principles which the President the other day condemned as lynch law."

Strong words these, but deserved. Attorney General Carson hit the mark.

E. H. Harriman, who kept his eyes open during his recent oriental trip, says Japan is ambitious to establish a strong trans-Pacific merchant marine, owning her own lines, while China is especially interested in railroads to develop her interior resources. The commercial awakening in the east, especially in China, should be taken advantage of by American capital and enterprise. The Chinese, we are assured, will do no more tearing up of railroads. Their policy is to build more.

An internal conflict, the end of which no man can foresee, is imminent in Russia. The first clash between troops and revolutionists will set the whole country aflame. As a member of the emperor's council puts it: "It is a frightful disease from which Russia is suffering, and, sad and painful as it is, the government must act with force." The time for conciliatory measures has been too long delayed. Even were the government disposed to make concessions, it is apparently too late. The government's misdeeds are recoiling upon its own head.

The Democrats don't want any water in theirs, thank you, so by special request Castle, who preaches temperance in everything but speech, will not be upon the platform at the meeting in Allegheny Carnegie Music hall tonight. Until yesterday Castle expected to speak his one piece, but his bourbon friends balked. The political chemists who have been trying to blend Democracy and Prohibition have given it up as a bad job. But Castle was willing enough. The famous "Orator Puff," who "had two tones to his voice," was just such another one.

As election day draws near, the Democratic-Citizens managers are redoubling their efforts to squeeze every dollar possible from payroll employes. The "men with stolen goods in their pockets," with their partners in the iniquitous alliance, evidently realize the seriousness of the situation which confronts them. Yesterday's decision, sustaining the validity of the Lincoln ticket, adds to the atmosphere of discouragement which surrounds the fusion camp. The Bigelow-Verner-Hays company is giving its last performance. By popular demand, the curtain will soon be rung down, and there will be no encore.

The Leader, which as afternoon apologist for the Democratic-Citizens outfit, has naturally become sodden with misanthropy, yesterday freed its embittered and tottering mind of the following wail:

These are certainly the melancholy days,
The saddest and the meanest of the year.
Ev'rything is dark and dismal
And a sense of woe abysmal
Makes one feel as though calamity were near.

The Leader's premonition of impending calamity is entirely justified. Not only are these "melancholy days" for the Leader, but there are reasons for believing that "everything is dark and dismal" also for those gentlemen who have incurred the support of that alleged newspaper.

Castle Must Answer.

Robert McAfee, secretary of the commonwealth, is to be commended for his announced purpose of bringing suit against Homer L. Castle for slander. In this action Mr. McAfee not only seeks justice for himself, but renders a distinct public service. While in political oratory we do not look for soft speech and parliamentary language, Castle, with his reckless charges and sneaking insinuations, unaccompanied by a particle of evidence, has aroused the disgust of all decent citizens. Now Mr. McAfee will call his colossal bluff. Himself a resident of a glass house of extremely fragile construction, Castle has not hesitated to indulge in stone throwing in utter defiance of the wise old proverb.

The criminal recklessness of Castle is illustrated by his statement yesterday: "Everything I have said about the Enterprise National bank in this campaign is only what I have heard. I know only what I have been told." Yet the ex-director of the failed Prudential Trust Company has presented this hearsay evidence so that many persons believed it matter of his own personal knowledge. Pinned down, he confesses the elusive nature of his information.

The Gazette has consistently urged that Castle be brought into court in order that the falsity of his charges may be proved. We are gratified that this is to be done. Castle must answer.

Lincoln Ticket Decision.

The decision of Judges Frazer and Shafer insures that the names of the nominees of the Republican party for county offices, except that of the nominee for director of the poor, will appear on the Lincoln ticket. When the Lincoln party was organized in Philadelphia and indorsed Berry for state treasurer it was approved by the Pittsburgh organ of the Democracy as the only exponent of true Republicanism. But since the Lincoln party organizers in this county showed a disposition to merit this good opinion by approving and accepting the men who were nominated for county offices at the Republican primary election, the Post has ceased to praise. It has a personal interest in the Verner-Hays-Bigelow county ticket which is made by it superior to the help which the Lincoln party may be to Berry.

We do not doubt that the Lincoln ticket as now completed will be an aid to Berry, but not by securing Republican votes for him. A large number of Democrats who are disgusted with the Citizens violation of pledges and who wish to vote for their candidate for state treasurer will take advantage of the opportunity given them by the Lincoln ticket to vote for Berry and at the same time smite the gang whose "leaders and financial backers," as the address of the Allied Independents charges, stole the property of the people and sold it to the highest bidder. But for the opportunity they now are given to express their sentiments in full with one cross mark, many Democrats would not have voted at all.

The Worm Turns.

All persons who have suffered, silently, mayhap, but similarly, will be interested in the test case brought by a Chicago man to decide whether a wife has a right to give away her husband's wardrobe to charity. The generous, open-hearted manner in which wives sacrifice their husbands' clothing, in order to relieve the distress of others, has always been a prominent trait in the feminine character, equalled only by their neglect to make similar contributions from their own wardrobe. Partial explanation of this latter trait may be found in the fact that feminine garments are eternally subject to the "making-over" process and, however old, are never considered fit objects for the ragbag or the poor. The women's magazines are to blame, also, in some measure, for containing so many suggestions for renovating garments that have apparently outworn their usefulness. Then, after a garment has been made over a dozen or so times, it can be cut up and utilized for "dusters," or worked into couch covers, rag carpets or crazy quilts.

With man's suit, on the contrary, it is not so. Once it has become a little frayed about the edges and a fellow has come to feel a real affection for it, and has decided to put it carefully away for the next fishing trip, an inscrutable feminine wisdom presents it, in his absence, to the first tramp that comes along. So often has this been the case in Chicago recently that many husbands find their wardrobes in a deplorably depleted condition. No doubt a similar state of affairs prevails in many other parts of our broad land where husbands are less outspoken. Did husbands generally possess a little more moral courage, it is believed various cherished garments, mysteriously spirited away through the agency of foreign missionary societies, would now be gladdening the hearts of their rightful owners instead of adorning unappreciative heathen. A man doesn't really get to like a coat until he has associated with it daily for years. Then he wouldn't exchange it for Joseph's multi-colored raincoat. Therefore, it is that the husbands of the entire nation will await with bated breath the decision of the Chicago tribunal, while taking off their hats to the brave man who has brought this question into court.

The Business Situation.

The driest of statistics sometimes furnish proof of the actual conditions prevailing in a nation. The classified foreign trade statement of the commerce of the United States for September and for the nine months of the current calendar year, which was issued during the week, contains several items which throw light upon some features of the business situation. Thus during the month of September we paid for luxuries alone more than $13,700,000, an increase of $2,655,000 over the same month last year. For the nine months our bill for foreign luxuries exceeded $115,500,000, an increase of $19,000,000 compared with the corresponding period last year. In 1904 this bill was $12,000,000 smaller than in 1903 for the nine months. The greater part of last year was one of depression or slow recuperation from the financial excesses of the two previous years, and as a consequence we cut down our bill for foreign luxuries. This year, however, we have completely recovered and our purchases have been the largest for any like period in our history. This is an almost unfailing proof of national prosperity.

Another item in the statement shows that during the month of September our exports of agricultural products decreased nearly $4,400,000, and the net balance of merchandise trade for the month was a little less than $34,000,000, as compared with more than $50,000,000 for the same month last year. The difference helps to explain the present firm market for sterling exchange, which has risen to a point justifying gold exports at a season when we usually look for gold imports. This is one reason for the relatively high rates for money in the domestic markets.

An incident of the past few days was the sharp advance in the price of wheat. This movement interests more than the farmer and the consumer. The banker is interested, because if the advance continues it is likely to check exports of breadstuffs and thus reduce the favorable trade balance. The possibilities of the situation have no doubt served to curb the speculation in the stock market, which at one time during the week threatened to become rampant.

A review of industrial affairs presents a picture that has now become familiar. In the iron trade practically all departments are running full, and prices are firm. The quarterly report of the United States Steel Corporation, due next Tuesday afternoon, will probably show the largest amount of unfilled orders on hand ever reported. Other corporations could no doubt make a similar showing. The activity in building operations which have been favored by seasonable weather, and the provisions made by railroad companies to meet the almost certain demands of the future, have contributed to the great volume of business in the hands of manufacturers. Labor is so well employed that the spending power of the masses is increased, and this is finally having its effect upon mercantile trade, which was rather tardy in participating in the prevailing prosperity.

"Every one of President Roosevelt's speeches contains texts for many sermons," says a Boston clergyman. And nobody ever goes asleep under Mr. Roosevelt's preaching.

A Chicago paper speaks of a clergyman who "became prominent some years ago by being sandbagged and robbed." This is a frequent method of attaining prominence in Chicago.

A writer of advice to young men says he believes the retail drug business is one of the most profitable at the present time. He probably resides in a prohibition town.

"One of the most interesting breach of promise suits in years" is promised at Allentown. Oh, why not wait until we get through with this insurance investigation?

Tesla says that by another year he may be able to telephone from New York to St. Petersburg. But the czar will probably be too busy to come to the 'phone.

And now Secretary Taft has started off to Panama to look at the canal. He is a living refutation of the theory that stout men are not fond of exercise.

The Ohio farmer who has bet 200 bushels of apples on the Republican state ticket will be in a position to understand what is meant by "the fruits of victory."

The California wizard who is trying to impart the odor of violets to the chrysanthemum would achieve greater popularity by deodorizing the onion.

Chicagoans extended the hospitality of the stockyards to Mr. Cleveland. They never have any trouble entertaining distinguished visitors.

The beef packers are clutching at technicalities as a drowning man at a straw. And it is to be hoped with about the same success.

According to Mr. Harriman, any of the powers that start to make a post-mortem examination of China will find a pretty lively corpse.

"I believe Theodore Roosevelt is the happiest man alive," says a friend. The czar is probably the unhappiest.

Payroll employes find it somewhat difficult to "look pleasant" while making their "voluntary" contributions.

President Roosevelt doubtless found the excitement of the steamship collision highly enjoyable.

The insurance investigation promises to put a few more reputations on the remnant counter.

Castle may be a "fire-brand," as he says, but he will be soon extinguished.

Attorney General Carson hit straight from the shoulder, and hit hard.

Same Old Combination.

Republicans should not forget that it is the same old Democratic party and its sideshows that are ranged in opposition this year. They are making a good deal of noise at present in an attempt to put a little life into their wandering hopes, but that should deceive no Republican.—Kittanning Tribune.

Another Herculean Task.

The announcement that the Mutual Life is going to "clean house" somehow recalls that old story of the Augean stable.—New York Herald.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS ON WAYS OF WORLD

What Particular Job Do You Think You Can Hold Down?

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Many of the failures of men are due to their employment not being congenial. Very often this uncongeniality is imaginary rather than real, in which case the failure is not so much due to the particular kind of work as to lack of interest on the part of the individual.

That there is a cause for failure to succeed in this life there can be no doubt, and surely there have been enough failures to demonstratae all possible causes, and these have been made so apparent that it is most strange that they are not avoided by those who are making their start in life.

Of causes and effects we only know that which we have learned.

This may account for so many not knowing how to start, and how to keep going after having started.

What did you learn concerning the causes of failure while you were in school? Were you taught the elements of success in business and in social life? Were you encouraged to follow any particular taste in inclination that you may have had?

Don't you think now, having had time and opportunity to think it over, that you were not educated and fitted for life as well as you might have been?

If so, are you making any effort toward improving school methods? Are you seeing to it that your children are being taught in a more practical way?

It isn't the amount of schooling that a man gets that specially fits him for any particular calling. It is practical education, a course of schooling that will develop his native talents to the best possible advantage.

Some imagine that schooling fits them for doing things. This is a mistaken notion. It only fits them to learn more readily the details and practical features of their professions.

Here is where the technical school has a decided advantage over others in fitting men for trades and professions. In these schools they work at their trades and professions. They are apprentices, in fact, and serve their time.

They not only learn in a technical school what tools are for and how to use them, but they learn the why and the wherefore of things instead of working by the rule of "cut and try," and can give reasons for doing so and so instead of merely saying it was the way they learned to do it.

Medical colleges, business schools and many others are conducted on the technical plan. They give students more or less actual practice in line with their studies. And yet, graduates from these institutions have to learn the business after leaving school.

Schooling is, therefore, an aid to learning rather than the end of it. It enables one to grasp situations quickly and to know what to do, but facility in doing it must come through practice.

However, success in any calling depends largely on the native talent of the individual. This talent is manifested by the tastes and inclinations exhibited in youth.

It would be practically impossible to make a good shoemaker out of a born doctor, or musician. Many efforts have been made to make good doctors and musicians out of born shoemakers. That such efforts have failed is evident to anyone who has made note of things seen and heard during his comings and goings.

A correspondent wants to know of what use the study of literature, composition and the like, is to one who purposes to devote his life to business.

These are of great value, no matter what the calling in life may be.

This is clearly set forth in a recent issue of Technics by Prof. Ripper, a highly successful instructor, from which the following is taken:

"There are many qualities necessary to success in modern business life; but there is none of more importance to a man holding a position of responsibility than the power to make a plain, straightforward, businesslike statement, either by speech or in writing. The quality of fluency is not so much what is required as the qualities of accuracy and clearness, definiteness and brevity, tact and judgment.

"If we are not clear and precise it is certain that those who listen to us will be more clear, when we have finished, than we are ourselves—probably much less so. We must have no vague and misty ideas about the subject, but they must be crystallized and definite.

"These qualities of our thought and speech, however, cannot be left to chance. They are attended as the result of effort, of careful and independent thought on the subject for ourselves, of looking at it from many points of view, and thus satisfying ourselves and those who listen to us that we thoroughly understand what we are talking about. It clears one's own mind in thinking out a subject to talk it over with a colleague, or to write out a statement of it, or to dictate it to a shorthand wrier.

"Having decided what to say and having properly arranged it, the last point is how to say it. The first essential is to speak distinctly, then to be natural, straightforward, lucid; neither to strive after effect nor to exaggerate, but to give the impression that we are ourselves convinced of the cogency and force of our own contention."

What Cambria Republicans Should Do.

The Republicans of Cambria county should remember that Lee Plummer is the Republican candidate for state treasurer, not the candidate of any man, or set of men. They should rally to the support of their party candidates, cast a record vote, and forever end the dream of the Democratic machine's control of county affairs.—Johnstown Tribune.

GOTHAM HAS HAVEN FOR LITTLE MOTHER

Place Where Older Children May Leave Baby Brothers and Sisters on Way to School.

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—On lower Second avenue there is a big, old-fashioned mansion of the type common to the city during the days before the Civil War. Over the door a huge, gilt sign proclaims it to be one of the homes of the Little Mothers' Aid association, and on each side of the door stone lions look encouragingly on the stream of children constantly filing in and out of the basement areaway. Inside, the three floors are simply swarming with children—children of all ages, from four or five to 14 years, and from the kindergarten to the cooking grades.

Down in the basement a line of girls is formed around a long oval table. In front of each there is a cup of cocoa and a piece of bread and butter. They are the "Little Mothers" and they are just straggling in from school to get this bit of luncheon and to call for their baby brothers and sisters who have been entertained during the day in the nursery of the home, so that their big sisters can get as much schooling as possible before they are old enough to enter the factory or work room.

One of the principles of the home is to impress on the girls that they are not passive receivers of charity, but earn all they get. To this end a system of marks is in use to reward them for good attendance. For each lesson they attend they are allowed eight, and in return for the marks earned they are allowed various articles of clothing—the scale varying from eight for a pair of stockings to 40 or 50 for a dress.

Murphy Is Actually Scared.

Information was given out today at Jerome's headquarters that Murphy has replied to Jerome's "where did he get it?" By barring Jerome out of the gas house district, of which Murphy is the leader, the Jerome campaign managers in the district have been forced to establish headquarters in a wagon. Murphy hopes to "kill the Hearst boom" by placarding the city with great posters representing Hearst in a yellow suit running away from a red bomb inscribed "Czolgosz." In the background is a figure of McKinley pointing a finger at Hearst. At the top of this poster, which is 10x12 feet, is the legend: "Lest we forget." Some of these posters are already up.

Subway Had Busy Year.

It was a year ago yesterday that the subway was opened for public traffic. One hundred and six millions of passengers were carried during the year. At the Brooklyn bridge 10,060,000 fares were received; in round numbers about as many more at the Grand Central station, and nearly 700,000 at Fulton street. The estimated number of passengers carried on the elevated lines during the year is 261,686,656. The extensions to Brooklyn and under Fort George will be in operation early next year.

Women Lawyers Have Big Case.

Jessie Ashley of Ashley, Pope & Doty, a firm altogether composed of women lawyers, appeared in the Supreme court today as attorney of record in the suit brought by Esther Spitzer, as administratrix of her deceased husband, David Spitzer, against the New York Central & Hudson River railroad company, in which she seeks to recover $25,000 damages for Spitzer's death. It was arranged, after Miss Ashley had answered "ready," the case should stand over until the November term of court. Spitzer, who was a baker, was run down and killed two years ago by a "Dolly Varden" train.

She Waited Upon George Washington.

Mary Ann Van Dyke, for whom funeral services will be held at the Lincoln mission, Brooklyn, is said to have been the oldest woman in the United States. She was born a slave on March 14, 1791, in the Cortelyou family at Fort Hamilton, N. Y., with whom she lived until she married. She had eight children, all of whom are dead. Until well in her eighties she went out every day to do washing, ironing and scrubbing. She attended church regularly until about eight years ago, and since then has been going to the Lincoln mission, which is across the street from her home. It was her delight to tell of slavery days and of the times she waited on George Washington at table.

Gotham's Big Bill for Classes.

The board of estimate today approved the plans of the local board of water supply and instructed the corporation counsel to petition the state board at once for its consent to the execution of the plans. The action of the board of estimate practically binds the city to the scheme for tapping the water supply in the Catskills to secure 500,000,000 gallons daily, for distribution to the different boroughs. The estimated cost of the work is $161,000,000. Of this, however, only $112,000,000 will be needed immediately. That amount will build a reservoir at Ashokan, with a distributing reservoir at Hill View and covered conduits leading to the city.

Graft of Professional Bondsmen.

Magistrate Steinert, sitting in the West Side police court today, questioned all the women arraigned before him for disorderly conduct as to whether they were bailed out in the station houses to which they were taken, and as to how much they paid for the service. In nearly every case the prisoner admitted that she had to pay $5 for bail. After receiving such replies in several cases, Magistrate Steinert remarked: "I wish I had the bondsmen here instead of these women." All the women were discharged.

STORIES FOUND IN THE LOBBIES

Interesting Happenings Concerning the People Who Are Traveling.

W. D. Holliday Is Honored.

W. D. Holliday, who will retire from the office of assistant general freight agent of the Wabash here next Tuesday, was given a splendid testimonial of appreciation last night. The traffic representatives of the industrial corporations of Pittsburgh gathered at the Duquesne club for a banquet with Mr. Holliday as honor guest, and he was presented with a gold watch fob and charm. The presentation was made by A. L. Ralston of the Crucible Steel Company, Mr. Holliday responding with words of deep gratitude. Each one present made a brief address, wishing him God-speed in his future work, with the hope that he will not be out of touch with them. Letters and telegrams of regret were read from B. A. Worthington, E. H. Tristram and H. J. Booth of the Wabash, J. A. Conkley, of the American Steel & Wire Company, and John B. Hill, Jr., of the American Sewer Pipe Company, who were away. Those present included L. C. Bihler of the Carnegie Steel Company, toastmaster; F. A. Ogden, of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company; J. M. Belleville, of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company; S. P. Woodside, of the Pittsburgh Coal Company; W. B. Everest, of the Westinghouse Interests; A. G. Young, of the American Sheet & Tin Plate Company; W. O. Orr, of the National Fireproofing Company; W. O. Davis, of the American Steel & Wire Company, and C. S. Belsterling, of the American Bridge Company.

At least four of the Pittsburgh hotels presented animated scenes in their lobbies last night, and several would-be guests drew back at first, thinking there were so many goings on that they would not find room, only to be reassured on that point. The Henry lobby always is animated, but it was especially so last night because of the Phi Beta Pi fraternity's doings. The Fort Pitt had the Canadian teachers; at the Schenley the passenger men of the Pennsylvania railroad had a banquet and at the Monongahela house the Bnai Brith had a banquet, reception and dance.

John A. Chilton, a Harpers Ferry, W. Va., business man, was at the Hotel Antler yesterday. He is enthusiastic over the possibilities of improved agriculture in that neighborhood. "Thousands of acres of cleared land can still be bought far up in the Shenandoah valley in Virginia," said Mr. Chilton, "land that has been cleared many years and abandoned. People say it is absurd for the east to expect to compete with the west in raising beef, but I maintain that on fine land such as is selling in the Shenandoah for low prices beef cattle can now be raised at a profit. That land used to grow fine corn and tobacco, but parts of the country have never recovered from the setback caused by the abolition of slavery. It is a country great in possibilities for country homes, too. Magnificent old mansions, with hundreds of fine land surrounding, can be bought cheap. I've often wondered why some of your wealthy Pittsburghers don't go down to the Shenandoah valley and make the country blossom as of old."

Good Men Are Wanted.

The employes of Hapgood's Pittsburgh office were the guests of H. J. Hapgood, president of the company, at the Fort Pitt hotel last evening. Mr. Hapgood, who has been in Pittsburgh for several days on business, returned to New York after the dinner. "In my trip throughout the country," said Mr. Hapgood, "I find everywhere a condition of business prosperity that is unprecedented. The demand for high-grade men is a good indication of the country's prosperity and never was there so much difficulty in finding the right man for the more responsible positions as at present." Mr. Hapgood sails next week for England, proposing to open offices in London and several other English cities.

Persons Coming and Going.

Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Shallenberger passed through last night on his way from Washington to his home in Beaver.

W. D. Maher, general manager of the Norfolk & Western railroad, spent yesterday in Pittsburgh and left for Philadelphia last night in his special car.

Reform the Reformers.

The so-called reformers of Philadelphia who have formed a City party in opposition to the regular Republican organization and its candidates, are very much in need of reform themselves. Under the leadership of a foreign-born mayor, who has been industriously engaged for months in an attempt to disrupt and overthrow the party, to which he owes every public office he has ever held, this band of political pirates has stopped at nothing to accomplish their own desperate designs.—Oil City Derrick.

Sniffed Mortuary Bouquets in Life.'

The rare good fortune was vouchsafed Jerry Simpson to read his own obituaries. Reports of his condition weeks ago gave him but a few hours to live, and these produced immediately many apprehensions in print of his personality and public services. Many were very hearty, and he is said to have read all of them with great pleasure. He went then knowing that he had played his part in the main very well, and was leaving a fragment memory.—Washington Star.

The Young Man's Party.

Any young man may proudly ally himself with the Republican party at this time. Men of the highest integrity, greatest ability and of spotless character are on the state and county tickets. From Mr. Plummer down, every man on the Republican ticket can be depended upon to give an honest and efficient administration of the office to which he aspires and to correct any abuses that may have crept in.—Altoona Gazette.

"LAND OF PURE DELIGHT."

The goldenrod a-shinin' as bright as Love's own curls:
We'll soon be hangin' mistletoe—then hands-round with the girls:
The fiddles makin' music to cheer the winter night,
And we'll know we're still in Georgia—the "land of pure delight!"

The barns are piled with plenty—the summer's promise sweet
Is now fulfilled in all the gold that's showered at your feet.
Though sorrow sometimes sought us, she drifts in dreams away,
An' the stars are shinin' brighter as they dance into the day!

Joy leads us on the life-way—we scarcely miss the birds,
For we've set the liveliest music to sweetest human words!
We're in the happy season, an' sweetest blessings fall
In the sunlight an' the starlight on the hearts an' homes of all!

BOOKS and BOOKMEN BY GEORGE SEIBEL

DOUBTLESS the most important publication of the week is President Roosevelt's "Outdoor Pastimes of an American Hunter," which Charles Scribner's Sons issue today. It contains an account of the author's recent hunting trips in Colorado, Oklahoma and Yellowstone park. There are also chapters on the interests and resources of a lover of animal life, and in a chapter entitled "At Home," the author describes his experiences with animals in captivity.

Two new novels come next in point of general interest—Charles Major's "Yolanda, Maid of Burgundy," published by the Macmillan Company, and Stanley Weyman's "Starvecrow Farm," published by Longmans, Green & Co.

Other books of fiction that have been expectantly looked forward to are Booth Tarkington's "Conquest of Canaan," published by Harper & Brothers; F. Hopkinson Smith's "Wood Fire in No. 2," published by Charles Scribner's Sons; "The Deluge," by David Graham Phillips, published by the Bobbs-Merrill Company; and "The Carlyles," by Mrs. Burton Harrison, published by D. Appleton & Co.

An important autobiographical work is Thomas Wentworth Higginson's "Part of a Man's Life," published by Houghton, Mifflin & Co. Col. Higginson knew all the New England authors and reformers from anti-slavery days to the present, and his reminiscences should prove as interesting as Edward Everett Hale's.

CAPT. MAHAN'S NEW WORK.

Sea Power in Its Relations to the War of 1812. By Captain A. T. Mahan. Boston: Little, Brown & Co. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. Two volumes, octavo, 423 and 456 pages, illustrated. Price, $10.00.

Capt. Mahan is our foremost authority on naval matters, historic or strategic, and every work from his pen receives attention the world over from students of history and men directly interested in marine affairs. He is industrious in research, acute in reflection; the practical and the philosophical sides of his nature are as evenly balanced as in Thucydides; he is no saddle historian who writes reports from camp, nor a closet historian who describes an army's evolutions from his library. He is, moreover, eminently judicial; his attitude is that of the bench rather than that of the bar. And his style has qualities that distinguish it alike from the golden pomp of Gibbon and the crystalline clarity of Macaulay, while sacrificing nothing of dignity or directness; it is a style sober without dryness, picturesque without ornament, vigorous without strain, equable without monotony, eloquent without violence. Perhaps no single passage will better illustrate the peculiar qualities of Capt. Mahan's style, and also the habitual attitude and workings of his mind, than the one expressing his views on war, a subject on which a great deal of sense and an equal amount of sentiment has been voiced within the past few years. Capt. Mahan says:

> If war is always avoidable, consistently with due resistance to evil, then war is always unjustifiable; but if it is possible that two nations, or two political entities, like the north and south in the American Civil war, find the question between them one which neither can yield without sacrificing conscientious convictions, of which each generation in its day is the trustee, then war is not justifiable only, it is imperative. In these days of glorified arbitration it cannot be affirmed too distinctly that bodies of men—nations—have convictions binding on their conscience, as well as interests which are vital in character; and that nations, no more than individuals, may surrender conscience to another's keeping. Still less may they rightfully pre-engage to do so. Nor is this conclusion invalidated by a triumph of the unjust in war. Subjugation to wrong is not acquiescence in wrong. A beaten nation is not necessarily a disgraced nation; but the nation or man is disgraced who shirks an obligation to defend right.

The tendency to stand upon broad general principles, unswerved by considerations of temporary or specific nature, evinced in this utterance, characterizes the whole of Capt. Mahan's work. It is a link—the last—in his series on "The Influence of Sea Power Upon History"—and throughout the present work he shows that "the lesson is rather that of the influence of a negative quantity upon national history." The United States was sadly delinquent in keeping up its naval armament up to the outbreak of the war not a vessel had been added to our fleets; the political philosophy of Jefferson was antagonistic to commercial growth or the expansion of sea power, while his antipathy to England was neutralized by his aversion to decisive measures. Capt. Mahan shows the impotence of the Embargo, the suicidal policy of unpreparedness, the fatal nature of delay after the Orders in Council were promulgated. At the same time he shows how England's course was dictated by the necessities of her life-and-death struggle with Napoleon, whose policy toward us was just as arrogant and injurious to our interests. The only point on which Capt. Mahan can commend American policy without qualification is that our statesmen always stuck to the broad general principles at stake and were not deflected into the discussion of special outrages or individual grievances. It was the act of trespass, invading our ships to search, not the impressment of our seamen, generally upon just grounds of former allegiance, which constituted the casus belli. Capt. Mahan's book is eminent for the fairness with which it presents the British side of the controversy, generally misunderstood and often branded as indefensible.

On the tactical and strategic side of the work, in which Capt. Mahan is rightly held to be our foremost authority, he again lends all his abilities to show that "not by rambling operations, or naval duels, are wars decided, but by force massed and handled in skilful combination." He holds that "the victories on Lake Erie and Lake Champlain do illustrate, in a distinguished manner, his principal thesis, the controlling influence upon events of naval power, even when transferred to an inland body of fresh water." It would seem almost needless to demonstrate what is seemingly obvious, and is reinforced by the martial practice of all maritime nations, but then most of the lessons of history are obvious after the event. While our navy is still in its formative period, and while short-sighted pocketbook politicians inveigh against expenditure for ships and armament, such works as Capt. Mahan's are not superfluous.

AGAINST NATIONAL CONTROL.

Government Regulation of Railway Rates. By Hugo Richard Meyer. New York: The Macmillan Company. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 480 pages. Price, $1.50.

As railroad rate regulation is one of the public questions being warmly discussed of late, and will continue to be a topic until eventually disposed of, Prof. Meyer's thorough work will be welcomed by all who are interested. It is an exhaustive study of the experience of the United States, Germany, France, Austria-Hungary, Russia and Australia. He barely touches upon the subject of secret rebates, except to show that railways are far more likely to deviate from rates fixed by government than from those fixed by themselves. As to the reasonableness of railroad rates, he contends that they have rarely ever been extortionate. The relative reasonableness of rates and whether the government should exercise the power to prescribe them, is the main line of his investigation, and he arrives at the conclusion that "every effective effort to regulate railway rates in general will arrest the decline of rates, * * * and will demoralize the politics of the country." He shows how government supervision in Europe has strangled enterprise, and sides with the supreme court in its decisions overriding the interstate commerce commission's "theories of social progress." In point of fact, Prof. Meyer's advocacy of laissez faire is so pronounced that there will not be wanting those who say he has been retained by the railroads. His book is valuable, nevertheless, for the facts it contains.

A HISTORY OF MUSIC.

The Study of the History of Music. By Edward Dickinson. New York: Charles Scribner's Sons. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 409 pages. Price, $2.50.

Beginning with the various theories as to the origin of primitive music, Prof. Dickinson traces its development down to the latest phase of American music. His work is intended for the general reader as much as for the trained musician, and its chief value for both lies in his calm mastery of the whole subject-matter, evinced both in its historic and theoretical phases. His estimate of Wagner, for instance, is the most fair and lucid ever compressed into few pages; who will not recognize the justice and accuracy of the dictum: "Musical effects accumulate until the primal forces of nature seem to have taken voice." Similarly, there is a whole volume of critical appreciation in the single phrase about Mozart, "He taught the instruments to sing." The chapters on Gluck, the German Lied, Chopin and Recent Music in France contain much excellent matter seldom set forth. The chapter on Recent Music in Germany, while warmly appreciative of Brahms, loses force by its uncertain attitude toward Strauss. Mr. Dickinson is seemingly content to let Huneker and Henderson expound and extol him. The work is especially rich in bibliographical side-lights.

ANSWERS THOMAS DIXON.

The Colonel's Dream. By Charles W. Chesnutt. New York: Doubleday, Page & Co. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 249 pages. Price, $1.50.

Mr. Chesnutt's novel, it would seem, is an indirect answer to the strident books of Thomas Dixon. This is unfortunate, not only because controversy is not the function of fiction, but also because Mr. Chesnutt is no match for the fiery apologist of the Ku Klux Klan, either as advocate or romancer. The Colonel's Dream tells the story of a New York business man who arrives at riches and leisure by selling out to a trust, and then goes south to his old home for his health. There he meets a number of good old-fashioned negroes of the Uncle Tom variety, and runs up against the iniquities practiced under the convict labor law. According to Mr. Chesnutt's story, the prevailing practice is to goad the ignorant negro to some crime, arrest and sentence him for it, selling his labor to the highest bidder—thus introducing a new form of slavery under the guise of a penal institution. But Mr. Chesnutt cannot lay on the lurid colors as Mr. Dixon can—his horrors are underdone, as the other's are overdone. There is a love interest running through the story, but the Colonel's affection for his little son is far more potently pictured.

HEIRS OF MRS. TREE.

Mrs. Tree's Will. By Laura E. Richards. Boston: Dana, Estes & Co. 319 pages. Price, 75 cents.

Another delightful Tree book, although the delightful Mrs. Tree dies at the very outset! A multitude of other New England types keep up the interest, first with their reminiscences of Mrs. Tree and then with the incidents and comments growing out of the odd will, which began with the words: "I, Marcia Darracott Tree, being of sound mind, which is more than most folks I know are." Mrs. Tree being out of the way, the rhapsodic brothers, Pindar and Homer Hollopeter, take up the most prominent places, with Thomas Candy, Miss Bethia Wax and a dozen others who are not unworthy of Dickens. Mrs. Richards' humor is of the outspoken and direct sort, not subtle and elusive, like Miss Jewett's; in fact, many of the figures and episodes in her Tree books are frankly farcical, but so is all the comedy of Shakespeare, Sheridan and Dickens. It is enough that here is a genuinely humorous work, overflowing with vitality, yet never descending to horseplay. It will rejoice all readers of "Mrs. Tree" and "Geoffrey Strong."

ENGLAND'S FAMOUS SHRINE.

The Canterbury Pilgrimages. By H. Snowden Ward. Philadelphia: J. B. Lippincott Company. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 321 pages, illustrated. Price, $1.75.

A most interesting phase of religious history—which has given rise to at least three great art works: Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales," Tennyson's "Becket" and Meyer's "Der Heilige"—is considered historically and traditionally in Mr. Ward's thorough and interesting work. He begins by telling the story of St. Thomas, sifting out all legends like that of the Saracen maid who followed Sir Gilbert to London and became his bride, and the mother of the English Richelieu. He goes on to describe the rise of the pilgrimages to the shrine of St. Thomas the Martyr, the many miraculous cures recorded, the picturesque aspects of this great medieval institution immortalized by Chaucer, and the causes of its decadence. A well-wrought digest of the "Canterbury Tales" will serve as an excellent introduction to the poet's masterpiece. The half-tone illustrations, of which there are nearly a hundred, are printed with ideal clearness and artistic finish. The work is scholarly and entertaining.

JOHN LEECH'S DRAWINGS.

Pictures of Life and Character. By John Leech. New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 195 pages, illustrated. Price, $1.50.

Ruskin said of Leech that "his work contains the finest definition and natural history of the classes of our society, the kindest and subtlest analysis of its foibles, the tenderest flattery of its pretty and well-bred ways, with which the modesty of subservient genius ever immortalized or amused careless masters." Without stopping to wonder what the closing phrase means, or to recall the even more vigorous praise of Thackeray, one can enjoy the droll humor and clever drawings of the man who was for nearly a quarter of a century the leading spirit of Punch. "It was a fair hit," said the victim of one of his cartoons; and all might have echoed those words, for there was no sting of malice in his wit. The adventures of Mr. Briggs, and the horses Leech was so fond of drawing and drew so well, would alone suffice to fix his fame. This volume, containing several hundred of his best pictures, will be appreciated by every lover of humorous art.

A TRIO OF SOUTHERN GIRLS.

Three Daughters of the Confederacy. By Cyrus Townsend Brady. New York: G. W. Dillingham Company. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 440 pages, illustrated. Price, $1.50.

"The southern girls were and are yet very charming," is the way Dr. Brady begins his triple romance—and as it is well known that he married a southern girl, he probably speaks by the book. Two of his heroes are northerners, two of his heroines are ardent southerners; the other heroine, a luke-warm southerner, is won by the most fiery confederate of all. The Atlantic coast, with blockade running incidents, is the scene of the first story; the second plays in the Mississippi region and culminates at Vicksburg; the third is laid in the Shenandoah valley and its climax comes at Appomattox. The student of American history will find in these tales interesting glimpses of the men who figured in the big battles—Grant, Lee, Jackson and others. The lover of romance will find three stirring stories in Dr. Brady's best vein. Even the colored illustrations deserve a word of praise.

LETTERS WORTH READING.

The Upton Letters. New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 335 pages. Price, $1.25.

It is hard to believe that the century of the typewriter could bring forth these epistles as leisurely as those of Walpole or Cowper, and far more concerned about form and finish than those of FitzGerald or Stevenson. There are sage reflections upon life, illuminating comments upon literature, discussion of educational and religious problems that is well worth reading—in fact, these letters are literature, like the delicious causeries of Mme. de Sevigne and the heart-revealings of Keats. There is a most admirable and true view of modern English literature, for instance, in the letter of August 27, 1904—compressing a whole volume of acute criticism in paragraphs about Meredith, James, Mrs. Craigie, Mrs. Ward, George Moore, Gissing, Hardy, Kipling and Wells. The letter of November 29 is another gem—a hearth-coal in a world of chill fog. All the letters are well worth reading—and will be often reread.

IN WASHINGTON SOCIETY.

The Social Secretary. By David Graham Phillips. Indianapolis: The Bobbs-Merrill Company. 198 pages, illustrated. Price, $1.25.

An honorable place among our writers of fiction would have to be accorded to Mr. Phillips if he had created only two characters: in "The Golden Fleece," the fortune-hunting lord who is not a cad, and in his newest story, the western senator's wife who is not a vulgarian. "Ma" Burke could have been twisted into a caricature so easily; it would have been such capital sport to hold all her delinquencies up to laughter. "She was of the figure called stout by the charitable and sumptuous by the crude." She engages the "social secretary," a sort of companion and manager for the Washington season, who begins by convincing "Ma" Burke that "it's nice to be natural if you're naturally nice," and ends by—well, it is a pretty love story and a comedy of Washington life rolled into one, and well worth reading.

ARRAIGNS THE BEEF TRUST.

The Greatest Trust in the World. By Charles Edward Russell. New York: The Ridgway-Thayer Company. 262 pages.

The American beef trust is the monopoly at which Mr. Russell's book is hurled—a book of vitriolic rhetoric and startling facts. While the value of cattle has been enormously depressed by the operations of the combine, the price of meats has been advanced on an average of 50 per cent in five years. Mr. Russell shows by what manipulations both cattle raiser and consumer have been and still are being squeezed; he denounces the beef trust as a far more iniquitous monopoly than Standard Oil. The book will repay thoughtful reading as another chapter in the widespread literature exposing illicit graft and legalized exploitation to make ours seem the corruptest century in a corrupt civilization.

WILL FOSTER PATRIOTISM.

American Heroes and Heroines. By Pauline Carrington Bouve. Boston: Lothrop, Lee & Shepard Co. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 299 pages, illustrated. Price, $1.25.

Mrs. Bouve's book contains about a score of biographical sketches well calculated to stimulate patriotism in boys and girls. Among her heroes and heroines are Father Marquette, Anne Hutchinson, Israel Putnam, Molly Pitcher, Paul Jones, Nathan Hale, Stephen Decatur, Dolly Madison, Daniel Boone, etc. The well-known characters are followed by some others well worthy of note, even if their names have not been given such prominence—figures like Haym Salomon, the patriotic Jewish broker of Philadelphia; Dr. Kane, the Arctic explorer; Margaret Haughery, the benefactress of New Orleans, and the western heroes, Kit Carson and Sam Houston.

SAMANTHA AS GLOBE-GIRDLER.

Around the World With Josiah Allen's Wife. By Marietta Holley. New York: G. W. Dillingham Company. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 471 pages, illustrated. Price, $1.50.

Samantha is good company anywhere, and on a globe-girdling tour one could not ask for better. Little Tommy, her grandchild, is ordered to take a long sea voyage for his health, and Josiah Allen's Wife goes along. They visit New York, Niagara Falls, Chicago and Salt Lake City, where Samantha has an interesting interview with a Mormon; then the party visits Hawaii, the Philippines, India, China, Egypt and the Holy Land, as well as Europe, Samantha describing each country and its inhabitants, meeting prominent people and having laughable adventures galore.

FOR HOSPITAL OR HOME.

Helps and Hints in Nursing. By J. Quintin Griffith. Philadelphia: The John C. Winston Co. 480 pages. Price, $1.50.

Dr. Griffith sets forth the principles of nursing in simple English, avoiding verbosity, circumlocution and technical language. This simplicity of style, directness of statement, conciseness, together with completeness, ought to make the book desirable as a text-book for nurses, and also as a guide suitable for every family.

MAGAZINE NOTES.

The Reader for November contains poems by James Whitcomb Riley, Bliss Carman, Meredith Nicholson, James Ball Naylor and John Vance Cheney, besides stories by half a dozen clever writers. An essay on "Arnold and Joubert," by Richard Rice, is a notable bit of literary criticism. Among the illustrations is a picture of Miss Willa Sibert Cather, of Pittsburgh, author of "The Troll Garden."

McClure's Magazine for November is a notable number, for besides containing the first chapter of Carl Schurz's "Reminiscences," it has a story, "With the Night Mail," by Rudyard Kipling. Ray Stannard Baker contributes an article on "The Railroad Rate," and Charles F. Lummis another on "Pioneer Transportation in America."

The November McClure's is Noteworthy

Carl Schurz begins his Reminiscences by describing his boyhood in Bavaria. These Reminiscences will go on for over a year, with the absorbing interest of a novel. Ray Stannard Baker produces some astounding facts about railroad rate making, and shows how these rates set the prices we pay for everything we use. Kipling shows his old power in a new field in his story "With the Night Mail," the most convincing story on aerial navigation yet written. There are five other short stories which are not overshadowed by the leading features, good as they are, and pictures illustrating them by eight well-known artists. If you are not in the habit of reading McClure's, you will find an investment of ten cents in the November number the most surprisingly profitable investment you ever made.

ROYAL RECEPTION FOR TEACHERS

Pretty Visitors from Canadian Schools Share the Hospitality of Pittsburgh.

ALL GO SIGHTSEEING TODAY

The educators of Toronto, Canada, and the educators of Pittsburgh exchanged compliments yesterday. The Canadians declared they had never met teachers so enthusiastic in their work, and the Pittsburghers replied that a more beautiful group of young women never wielded a birch than the pedagogues from Toronto. The compliment to the visitors was not expressed by school teachers alone. Everywhere in the city the young women who are in the party of 300 teachers who are here on a vacation tour are spoken of as being remarkably pretty.

The teachers from Toronto flocked to all parts of Pittsburgh yesterday. After their strenuous trip they were aroused at dawn yesterday and spent the morning visiting the various public schools. At noon they shared the luncheon of the home teachers and the afternoon was given over to sightseeing and in studying local pedagogical methods.

Last night practically all the teachers in Pittsburgh, with all the school directors, tendered a reception to the visitors at the Ft. Pitt hotel. The flags of America and Britain were entwined and the mingling of the flags was symbolic of the feeling of fellowship which existed between the Canadians and their hosts. There were no formalities. A delicious buffet luncheon was served and the pedagogues "talked shop" or anything that pleased their fancy.

D. L. Gillespie, president of the central board of education, formally welcomed the teachers to the city at a meeting held at 8 o'clock yesterday morning in the hotel. The teachers expected to reach the schools early, and there was no time for long speech-making. Mr. Gillespie paid a glowing tribute to the Dominion's progressiveness and told briefly what Pittsburgh had to show its visitors. C. A. B. Brown, chairman of the Toronto board of education, responded, and told how fond the Canadians are of the Pittsburgh fishermen who visit the Muskoka lakes.

The teachers then divided into groups of from five to fifteen and visited the schools. Opportunities were given for the guests to study the work in all departments, and the drawing and manual training teachers in nearly all the wards made exhibits of the students' work.

"I have found no revelations in my trip," said Dr. James L. Hughes, chief inspector of the Toronto schools, after his tour yesterday morning. "I have often visited Pittsburgh and have addressed your county institute here. I consider this one of the most interesting cities in the world and it was on my suggestion that the teachers chose to come to Pittsburgh. What struck me most was the expression which many of our folks made when they woke up this morning, exclaiming, 'This is just like London.' They were not very cheerful when they arrived in the smoke and woke up in the fog, and many believed the tales they had heard about the sun never shining here. When they went out to Schenley park and viewed the Carnegie institute the sun came out warm and bright. We are now singing the praises of Pittsburgh as a beautiful city.

"To the person who uses his eyes a visit here is a liberal education. Pittsburgh schools will do good work if they simply teach the young people to appreciate the magnitude of their own surroundings here. Our teachers have gained many valuable ideas which they will put into practice when they return. The hospitality of the Pittsburghers has won a warm place in our hearts."

Today the teachers will visit Pittsburgh industrial plants, leaving the Union station for the Westinghouse plant at East Pittsburgh this morning. In the afternoon they will go to Allegheny and on their return will be entertained at luncheon at McCreery's store.

BANQUET HALL IS LIKE A HOSPITAL

The Phi Beta Pi Medical Fraternity Dines Amid Familiar Surroundings.

MITCHELL REMEMBERS OSLER

A banquet in which the decorations all smacked of the hospital, ended the second day of the general assembly of the medical fraternity, Phi Beta Pi. Curious bowls held the flowers that decorated the table and the waiters received the glad hand when they appeared wearing the convention garb of a surgeon ready to operate. The banquet room was decorated with the flags of the medical schools represented.

With all these surroundings, however, the menu that the Henry served was just about as good as that hotel can put up and the doctors were merely made to feel at home by the special arrangements. Covers were laid for 200.

In the post-prandial session Dr. E. B. Heckel was toastmaster and responses were made as follows: "Under the Surface of Things," Dr. George Johnston; "Why We are Here," Dr. Otto Gaub; "The Tree of Knowledge," F. Victor Laurent; "The Fraternity Man; His Obligation," Dr. J. F. D. Holston, Jr., of Zanesville, O., editor of the "Skull and Pelvis."

A feature of the day was the absence of Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, the well-known Philadelphian, who was to have read a paper yesterday on "Moral and Educational Advancement of the Student Body by the Precepts and Example of the Fraternity Members." It was rumored that Dr. Mitchell failed to appear at the meeting because of the fact that the proceedings were being published, and that as soon as he learned the fact he started for his home. The awful example of Dr. William Osler was remembered.

Several papers were read at the morning session, but the members would not make public their titles. The morning gathering extended into the afternoon and the automobile ride around the city was taken by only a few of the members. The banquet topped off the day.

This morning's session will close the convention proper, and at 2 p. m. the entire gathering will start for Exposition park to witness the W. U. P.-Dickson football game. In the evening the Pittsburgh members have arranged to give an informal smoker at the Henry.

One interesting feature is the presence at this assembly of the two men who founded the fraternity 14 years ago at West Penn Medical school. They are Dr. Loyal W. Wilson of New Castle and Dr. H. R. Powers of Kittanning. Dr. Powers called the first meeting, which he and Dr. Wilson attended, and Dr. Wilson made the name. First it was called "Pi Beta Phi," but it was discovered there was a sorority of this name and the title was switched about.

DECREASING EXPENSES OF WAR DEPARTMENT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Secretary Taft has transmitted to the treasury department his estimates of the appropriations required for the war department for the fiscal year 1907. Interesting Book on Asthma.

A very interesting book regarding asthma has recently been issued by the Dr. P. Harold Hayes Asthmatic Institute of Buffalo, New York, which is a recognized authority on the constitutional treatment of asthma and hay fever.

Over 60,000 cases of these two diseases alone have been treated by this institution.

It doesn't have any medicine to sell in drug stores or by mail; it takes charge of each case just as a regular physician would and instructs the patient by mail as to the means of having the cause of the diseases eliminated from the system.

Ever since 1883 this Dr. P. Harold Hayes Asthmatic Institute has been successful in curing Asthma and Hay Fever so that neither symptoms nor attacks would return after the treatment was discontinued.

By special arrangement any reader of the Pittsburgh Gazette can write to Dr. P. Harold Hayes, Buffalo, New York, and ask for Book 51, and it will be mailed postage prepaid, without charge. This is done as a courtesy to our readers, and also in order to let the public know the facts regarding the inability of smokes, sprays, "specifics" and so-called "cures," or any single medicine to permanently cure Asthma and Hay Fever.

MAYOR HAYS MAKES HIS MAIDEN SPEECH

City's Chief Magistrate Surprises Even Himself at Sixth Ward Meeting.

Mayor William B. Hays made the first real speech of his life last night. At the meeting of the Sixth Ward Civic association he spoke nearly 15 minutes, and his eloquence and fluency surprised his old neighbors. The mayor didn't appreciate the fact that he was bursting into oratory, and when he was roundly applauded and cheered when he took his seat his embarrassment showed plainly that he had even surprised himself.

The mayor counseled his hearers to proceed with caution in asking for city money, and told the association that the $10,000 which had been appropriated for the improvement of Bluff street was in the city treasury and that it could be had at any time the residents indicated their intentions as to what was wanted. The Sixth warders felt happy on hearing this, and immediately voted to pave the street with a cement walk over its entire length, and to use the remainder of the fund for planting trees and in beautifying the surroundings.

The hall in the basement of the Forbes district school building was packed, and all the residents seemed in hearty accord with the improvements suggested. A committee of three will be appointed to call upon the superintendent of the bureau of water supply and seek better service for that district. A petition signed by all except three of the property holders of VanBraam street was presented with the indorsement for the repaving and the improving of the sewer of that thoroughfare. The street was last paved in 1854. The matter of purchasing Hardscrabble for a park site also was approved.

ATTORNEY GENERAL CARSON DEFINES STATE ISSUES

don't want that peculiar combination which comes from a sort of consolidation in a single individual of a Democratic free trader, Prohibitionist and free silverite.

"It reminds me of the Frenchman's description of an American cocktail. He said: 'It is a very strange drink. I don't understand him at all. You put in a little brandy to make him hot, you put in a little ice to make him cold, you put in a little sugar to make him sweet, you put in a little lemon to make him sour, you put in a little gin to make him strong, you put in a little water to make him weak, and then you shake him together and you call him a grand cocktail. I call him a grand contradiction.'

How It Is Mixed.

"Well, they have put in a little Democracy to make it hot, and they have put in a little Prohibition to make it cold, and they have put in a little free silver to make it sweet, and they have put in some free trade to make it sour, and they call it a Berry good candidate.

"Can't you trust the party? Can't you still adhere to that glorious party, and trust me, although I am no prophet or son of a prophet, but at the same time I can predict, and trust me, when the sun goes down on that evening of November 7, the Republican party will be redeemed, regenerated and disenthralled."

The meeting was held in Turner hall in South Thirteenth street. The big auditorium was packed with residents of the South Side, the meeting having been held under the auspices of the Twenty-sixth Ward Republican association, who has for its chieftain John Bradley. He called the meeting to order and introduced Congressman A. J. Barchfeld as the chairman. Perry A. Shaner made the first speech. While he was talking, Mr. Carson arrived at the hall and was given a rousing ovation. Throughout his speech he was frequently interrupted by applause. Charles A. O'Brien made the closing address.

Fellow Citizens of Pittsburgh—I am glad to meet an audience composed so largely of workingmen in a city which may fairly claim to be one of the greatest hives of industry in this busy, hardworking land of ours. Labor and the rights of labor are entitled to respect and to the protection of the law, and under the creed of the Republican party they are entitled to the benefits which have always followed from the policy of protection. I believe that is a wise policy and I know that the country has always prospered when it has been enforced and I know that it is due to the Republican party that it has been enforced, and I know that whenever the Democratic party has been in power the country has been sick and ailing.

I remember some years ago seeing a picture which commanded my attention. It was called "The Iron Worker." It was so spirited and full of action that I could fancy that the figures were alive. A king sat upon his throne in his royal robes, with a crown upon his head, receiving the homage of his subjects. Beside the king was a vacant chair. One by one the courtiers had advanced, and after prostrating themselves before the monarch, had fallen back to modest positions below the throne. They were clothed in purple and fine linen and had costly furs and jewels on their persons. When suddenly there appeared at the lower end of the hall a man of gigantic size, with bare head and brawny throat and mighty arms, gripping in his right hand a bar of iron, with which he made the pavement ring as he strode boldly forward and, with a respectful inclination of the head, but with no servility, ascended the steps of the throne and took his place beside the king. That picture has remained in my memory ever since as typifying the position to which honest labor may aspire, when sustained by brain and brawn, by industry, intelligence, sobriety and high character.

What the Workingman Asks.

All that any workingman will ask is fair and equal chance. The rest will depend upon himself. No favors and no handicaps and an open field; a chance to earn his bread, with enough wages to put something by every year so that he may lift himself year by year and face his fellowman without being in debt or want or poverty; so that his children may be educated and his wife relieved of toil in her old age, and his home be happy and his own heart cheerful and strong, so that he may not envy his neighbor; so that in the ownership of his own house he will have an interest in the government, and be a good citizen and believe in honesty and purity in public and private life.

I am going to talk to you tonight about some matters in which we are all equally interested. I am going to speak plainly, directly and earnestly. You are American citizens, and your rights and mine are equal. You and I believe in honest government. I hate and abhor from my inmost soul all graft and grafters and all their works. Every act of wrongdoing should be exposed and laid bare, and every guilty man, no matter who he may be or what place he occupies, must be punished. I believe that the lid should be lifted and lifted at once. The idea that anybody should sit down on the lid to prevent the people from seeing what belongs to them, and what it is their right to know, is a false and wicked idea. I believe that every ramification of wrongdoing should be pursued to the end. I believe that party management should be honest management, and that party leaders should so act that the powers which they hold are exercised for the benefit of the people and not for the benefit of themselves or their instruments. I believe that the times require plain-speaking and prompt action, so that public wrongs may be redressed, defective systems improved, and all combinations or conspiracies or devices or artifices detected and punished.

I believe that the public money should be safe from the designs of irresponsible borrowers, and that no schemes should be worked by which it is possible for men who cannot borrow elsewhere to obtain state funds on worthless collateral or irresponsible names. I believe that the greatest possible safeguards should be thrown around the public treasury, and that no temptation should be spread before weak men. I believe that the money of Pennsylvania should be kept for the benefit of Pennsylvania, and that, when it is needed for her interests, it should be promptly forthcoming.

Honest Men Face the Situation.

I believe that there are thousands upon tens of thousands of honest men in the Republican party, and that there are plenty of honest men in the public service of the state, and I believe that these honest men will handle the present situation with entire integrity and with unflinching courage. I feel indignant that these honest men should be called on to face a situation full of shame and danger. The situation cannot be laid to their doors and is not traceable to their acts, but they will face the situation with all of its responsibilities. They are like officers on a ship in the midst of a storm. They would be cowardly and recreant to their duty if they should abandon the deck or the vessel. If any men are to go overboard, it should be those who have looted the lockes and not those who have an earnest desire to perform their duty and save the ship and the cargo for the benefit of its owners.

Now, having said this much, I desire also to say that I have no sympathy with the spirit which condemns men in advance of hearing, which ascertains facts before the evidence has been produced, which leaps to conclusions, which condemns anybody and everybody, which treats as absolutely worthless the positive denials of men charged with the commission of offenses, and which, in a wild spirit of excitement and hysteria, attempts to put into execution those vicious principles which the President the other day condemned as lynch law. You should reach no judgment, no matter what the excitement of the present situation as to the facts which have stirred this community until the facts have been laid bare by the proper authorities, and you must reserve your judgment in order that full justice may be done and in order that no injustice shall be done. The spirit which governs the American people, which governs the republican party, and which should govern fairminded men everywhere is the spirit of fair play. No man's guilt should be assumed; every man's guilt should be proved. When proved, if he be convicted, he should be punished according to law or condemned by public judgment. But before that time arrives, it is wicked, any more, it is an assault upon the dearest rights of the citizen, whose reputation, whose character, and whose personal interests are involved, to condemn them in advance. That was the spirit which made the streets of Paris run red with blood in the days of the French revolution. It is a spirit un-American and should not be indulged in here.

Graft Is Not Partisan.

Graft is not partisan and it is not local. It exists everywhere; in Missouri as well as in Pennsylvania, in Rhode Island and New York, as well as in Oregon and Delaware. It is not purely political. It exists in business, in insurance companies, and railroads, as well as in banking circles. It exists in private life as well as in public. It is in the federal service as well as in the state, and the rising voices of the people all over the land demand that it shall end. You must deal with it not in a spirit of violence, but with quiet courage. You should not burn buildings to get rid of obnoxious viewpoints as the mobs did in Paris. You should be judges not executioners; you should be jurors, not lynchers. You should beware of the assassins of character, and you should discriminate between reckless charges and a legal indictment. You should remember that in a hot campaign wild assertions are made and that suspicion is often substituted for proof.

You couldn't have been more surprised than I was, and the other state officers on the hill were, when the Enterprise bank failed here in Pittsburgh. It was as much of a shock to us as it was to you. The state banking commissioner could not know anything about it, and any effort to attempt to put responsibility upon him for lack of knowledge is unjust and unfair. Now, I will tell you why, and you can see it instantly, as business men. That bank was a national bank. The flag of the United States floated over it, and no state officer had any more right to go into that bank and make an examination of its effects than one of our state guards would have a right to go into a fort of the United States and attempt to rummage around the fortifications, or inspect the works, unless he had an order. The banks of the United States are just as distinct from the state banks as a citizen of the United States is from a citizen of a state. This is a fact and it is true. So don't put responsibility where it doesn't belong.

State Deposit Is Safe.

In the next place I am glad to be assured that the state deposit, large as it is, is safe. The state treasurer has in his hands bonds more than sufficient, more than double the amount. Directors' bonds, trust bonds and surety company bonds. So that the difficulty, so far as the state is concerned, is simply a temporary one. Your money is safe. Do not think that the state is going to lose a dollar, and do not be deluded by any statements to that effect. It is just because that institution was a national bank that your great governor wrote that letter to the President of the United States. The eye of the President can go there, but the eye of the governor cannot. The governor did not act impulsively; he is not a man to act suddenly, without the ascertainment of the facts or conditions, or act in a fit of hysteria or excitement. But after deliberation and after a study of the situation and a full realization of the conditions, he then called the attention of the President to the fact that that bank, with Pennsylvania money in it, was under the protection of federal law, and he asks that such a searching examination be made into its affairs that everything connected with the history of that bank shall be ascertained, and he added the words: "Anything that is my power to do to aid that investigation and make it complete, call on me and I will respond."

I see that some of the papers say that is well enough so far as national banks are concerned, but how about the state banks where there is so much money deposited? Very well. It was owing to a citizen of your own community being summoned from the position of bank commissioner to the position of secretary of the commonwealth and desiring to be informed as to his duty, who inquired of the attorney general as to what the duties of the revenue commissioners were; and after an examination of the law, the attorney general handed him an opinion, saying that every deposit in a state bank and every bond that backs it is to be subject to the scrutiny not of one man, but of three; the state treasurer, the auditor general and the secretary of the commonwealth. And long before any treasurer other than Mr. Mathues taken his place, long before the snows of February have fallen, that body of revenue commissioners will know every dollar of state deposit and will have examined every bond that backs it, and long before the month of May, when the new state treasurer comes in, you will have your public funds under the protection of this honest and intrepid board, who are determined to do their duty, not simply by their party, but by the people, entirely irrespective of party.

Misleading Statements Made.

More than that. There was a misleading statement made the other day in one of the public papers, that some years ago $2,775,000 of the bonds of the United States, 4 per cent, in which the sinking fund of the state was invested, had been sold, and the inference was that they had been sold for the purpose of realizing cash, in order to pour it into some favorite bank, in order that the politicians might get hold of it. The fact was stated so baldly that the governor, the auditor general, the secretary of the commonwealth and myself instantly had an examination made of the books of the treasury, and what did we find? We found those bonds of the United States were sold for the purpose of paying off the state debt. Why wasn't there a manly statement of the fact that those men were not embezzlers or thieves, but that they were selling those bonds for the express purpose of applying the amount realized to the trust imposed upon them by law. Is it fair? Is it square? No matter how hot our blood is, or no matter what our personal irritation, or how we would like to fly at the throats of our political opponents, is it fair to state one-half the facts, and allow the inference to be drawn to brand the men who did the thing as embezzlers and thieves and send their names down to posterity with a stain on them, when a simple inquiry would have developed the fact that the money was used for the purpose of paying the state debt?

Now, gentlemen, I simply appeal to you as fellow citizens, with just the same stake in the government—I have no larger interest, but precisely the same as you have—was that fair? The bonds realized some $2,000,000, the bonds of the state that were taken up, amounted to some $2,400,000.

The Result of Avarice.

Where did the remaining $600,000 go? If you had read the article you would have supposed that $2,775,000 had been converted into cash and distributed among these banks; $2,400,000 of that money purchased the bonds of the state of Pennsylvania and cancelled the debt. In other words, went directly into the pockets of the creditors of Pennsylvania, where it belonged. Why was not the remainder placed there? Because the purchase of so large an amount of state bonds ran the price up, and the bondholders, losing the patriotic view of the matter and having their avarice sharpened, demanded such a price of the sinking fund commissioners that it was no longer to the interest of the state to pay off the debt at such a rate of interest.

You noticed in the paper the other day that a tender of some $45,000 of the state bonds had been made to the sinking fund commissioners at a price of $106 and interest—I think that was the price; at all events, within a fraction of it—and instantly the price was accepted. Why? Because that was a price above the par value of the bonds; they computed the length of time that the bonds had to run, and the use that could be made of the money, and the state was in $2,500 on a $45,000 transaction, and the sinking fund commissioners said, "We will take just as many bonds as you can offer to us at precisely the same rate." So that if anybody says there is to be an alarm about the question as to where the sinking fund money is, and wants to get rid of this big surplus, if the bondholders of Pennsylvania are willing to take $106 for their bonds, and interest accrued to date, the whole of that $4,000,000 of that sinking fund may be wiped out in a short time (applause), and that money is no longer within the reach of anyone that wants to borrow it and no longer within reach of a bank that may go to pieces. If you want to pay that $4,000,000, if you cannot trust the bank, state bank or national bank, to hold it, then offer your bonds, gentlemen, and we will give you cash.

Defects That Have Been Revealed.

Now, undoubtedly, there have been some defects revealed as a result of this catastrophe in the system. There never was a catastrophe yet that didn't show men how they could be wiser than before. It is absolutely impossible for any man to be so wise or so farsighted as to look into the future and see things that are going to happen, or that are likely to happen, and then draw such a law or act of assembly to guard against it, which will be bomb proof under all circumstances. What are the defects which have been revealed in this instance? Clearly these, and they will be adjusted: There ought to be a limitation put upon the amount of deposits which can be put in any single bank, and there ought to be a reasonable relation or proportion between the amount of that deposit and the capital of the bank. We have learned that, and as we grow wise we will grow more prudent in our actions. But that is something that could not have been anticipated. There ought also to be a limitation upon the amount of loan which a bank can make to any one borrower. I myself am unable to understand with regard to this national bank—but I reserve judgment because I do not know the facts, and do not know how large the loans were, but I do know there is in an act of congress a provision which prohibits a loan to any one man in excess of 10 per cent of the authorized capital. There ought also to be a provision in the law by which it would be made a criminal offense for anybody to offer any sum or thing of value for the purpose of securing a deposit, and that ought to be imposed upon the bank officers as well as upon the borrower. Remember the transaction of a loan from a bank involves necessarily two parties. All the abuse has been showered on the borrower; but you must remember the responsibility of the lender is just as great. If money is borrowed, somebody must lend it. The question of the collateral which goes behind the loan is something which the lender ought to inspect and ought to insure.

Must Take Their Medicine.

I am at a loss to understand how any bank created as this was by the restrictions of the federal statue, the officers, directors and president should all act as a set of dummies and allow a single man to gut that bank, or so far control its affairs that he is said to have absolutely ruled them with a rod of iron. I won't pass any judgment upon their conduct at all, but I do say that if they had any part or lot in that transaction, or if they were careless or negligent or absolutely and willfully abstained from the performance of their duties, don't let them whine like women, or cry like sick babies, but let them stand up like men and take their share of the pounding.

Now our real danger is in carrying such a big surplus. I do not like it and never have liked it. The state is so rich that it always has three millions on hand, and it is a very difficult problem to know exactly what to do with them. We have in this sinking fund some $4,000,000, which I say we can get rid of at any moment if the bondholders will say "Here are the bonds; give us your cash." We have $10,000,000 surplus, and it is distributed around in different banks. It is a big sum of money, bigger than it ought to be; but what are you going to do with it? Somebody said, "Suppose we build a strong vault and guard it and put it in there." At first sight that might strike you as a pretty good plan; but if you put $10,000,000 of cash in a vault of that kind, and if every other state in the union did the same thing, don't you think we would have a crisis in the matter of currency in a short time? What would you do if you took that amount of money out of circulation? You would soon have this 16 to 1 business and free silver all over again. That would not do. Money is meant to be used. If honestly used, it is the lifeblood of business.

The Question of Distribution.

Well, then, some one said, "Why distribute it among so many banks?" Well, it may be—I am not passing any judgment on the matter; I am merely indicating the difficulties of the problem—it may be it would be better to concentrate it in fewer banks, or in some other institutions. But don't you see that instantly the cry goes up, that this is a big state, you are not the whole of the state, nor we in Philadelphia. There are 67 counties in this state, and the people all over it say, "This is state money. It belongs to the people of Pennsylvania; it is not fair to consolidate it in the big cities and not put it in circulation in some of the rural communities. We want to borrow money as well as the business men of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia and Scranton."

If an examination of the facts should happen to disclose, with respect to any state bank, where any banking examiner has a right to go, that anybody has secured a deposit of state funds solely for the purpose of having it loaned out to somebody who could not borrow elsewhere because irresponsible or without good collateral, then such a case should be called to the district attorney's attention in every county where it occurs, and if the district attorney for any reason cannot serve the county or people faithfully, then I, as attorney general, under an act of assembly, will see that a special appointment of a fit man is made.

The state officers are in earnest about this matter; they are going to do their duty, and you can trust absolutely the action of your revenue commissioners and your sinking fund commissioners for an investigation of all these facts. It will not depend on any new state treasurer to ascertain what those facts are, or where the funds are or how safe they are. It will be done long before he comes into office.

Praise for the Governor.

Now, why shouldn't you trust the state administration? Your chairman has alluded in very proper terms to the governor of this commonwealth. I have been at his side constantly for nearly three years, and a more conscientious, faithful, intelligent, painstaking, careful and deliberate governor never sat in that chair. He knows the history of this state thoroughly, and he is proud of her good name, and he is loyal in heart and loyal to his duties, and absolutely fearless in his acts. From the morning he took his seat this commonwealth was safe from any midnight grant of charters or any raps of franchises.

In the matter of buildings and public grounds, I have seen him sit at his table and spend hours in going over bills and accounts and vouching every item with the same painstaking accuracy as if he was merely a clerk. On the question of state roads, $5,000,000 have been appropriated for that purpose, and 150 miles of good roads have thus been completed. The governor is interested in the matter of a state constabulary, in the matter of public printing. He signed a bill in favor of Greater Pittsburgh which recognizes the fact that just as inevitably as the sun rises, those two great cities will some together, sparkling as a jewel in the crown of these western hills. But he is criticised. How easy it is to criticised: how hard it is to govern a state as large as this, a state, as I said a moment ago, with 67 counties in it, with its great variety of industrial activities and its varied population.

Governor Looked Ahead.

If you had read the messages of Gov. Pennypacker to the legislature of 1903 as well as 1905, you would have found that in advance of the people he recommended the very things which the people are now demanding. He was in favor of a re-apportionment; he was in favor of a personal registration; he was in favor of a fair ballot law; he was opposed to fraudulent assessments; he was in favor of a revision of our corporation laws; he was in favor of a revision of our banking laws.

As to fraudulent assessments, no honest man who believes that the richest possession a man has is his ballot, should be bereived of it. I do not want my vote killed by the vote of a fake or a fraud; and if the fake or the fraud is going to cast his ballot for the same ticket as I do, I don't want him for a partner. I won't go in business with him. If we can't win by an honest vote, we don't deserve to win at all.

We are going to have re-apportionment and personal registration. Then, too, you want a fair primary law. The primary election goes to the root of the matter. You want honesty to prevail there just as well as elsewhere.

CASTLE CANNOT STUMP

tle would have to be scratched. A member of the committee was selected to convey the news to Castle that he was not wanted at the meeting.

Marron Refuses to Talk.

Before the bearer of the official information that Democracy and Prohibition will not blend could find Castle, Marron heard what had happened. He declared himself in positive language and said that as he had invited Castle he would inform him he was not wanted. Marron also announced he would not speak at the meeting.

Castle was asked why he was not going to speak in Allegheny and he made a very frank statement:

"They do not want me to talk," said Mr. Castle. "I was prepared to make a speech there tomorrow night, but Mr. Marron informed me a little while ago that the Democrats did not want me. As I understand the matter, it is because I am a Prohibitionist and the Democrats do not want to speak from the same platform with me."

It was suggested to Castle The Gazette had repeatedly pointed out during this campaign the failure of Democracy and Prohibition to blend.

"I guess I will have to admit the correctness of that statement," said Castle. "There are at least spots in the state where Democracy and Prohibition will not blend. I will now keep the engagement I had cancelled so I could appear in Allegheny. I will speak in Lewistown Saturday night."

After 11 o'clock last night W. J. Brennen called up The Gazette office to announce that Marron and Castle will speak at the Allegheny Democratic meeting tonight. He says the "misunderstanding has been fixed up," but did not go into details. Castle has sent no request that his remarks about the failure of Democracy and Prohibition to blend should be withdrawn or that he has decided to appear in Allegheny tonight.

DISCUSS BANK FAILURE.

Speakers at Allegheny War Veterans' Meeting Talk of Effect on the Election.

The Allegheny War Veterans' association, which is working energetically for the Republican ticket, held another rousing meeting last night at its headquarters in North Diamond street, which was addressed by Congressman Graham, H. S. Lydick, John A. Fairman, H. K. Tyler, Charles W. Gerwig, A. D. Armstrong, George L. Rudolph and others.

In the absence of President W. T. Bradberry, who is a director in the Enterprise bank, the speakers felt free to discuss the affairs of that institution. Major Tyler said that the triumph of the Lincoln party in the local court meant much for the Republican county ticket. Another meeting will be held next Friday night.

THE LAXATIVE OF KNOWN QUALITY

There are two classes of remedies; those of known quality and which are permanently beneficial in effect, acting gently, in harmony with nature, when nature needs assistance; and another class, composed of preparations of unknown, uncertain and inferior character, acting temporarily, but injuriously, as a result of forcing the natural functions unnecessarily. One of the most exceptional of the remedies of known quality and excellence is the ever pleasant Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., which represents the active principles of plants, known to act most beneficially, in a pleasant syrup, in which the wholesome Californian blue figs are used to contribute their rich, yet delicate, fruity flavor. It is the remedy of all remedies to sweeten and refresh and cleanse the system gently and naturally, and to assist one in overcoming constipation and the many ills resulting therefrom. Its active principles and quality are known to physicians generally, and the remedy has therefore met with their approval, as well as with the favor of many millions of well informed persons who know of their own personal knowledge and from actual experience that it is a most excellent laxative remedy. We do not claim that it will cure all manner of ills, but recommend it for what it really represents, a laxative remedy of known quality and excellence, containing nothing of an objectionable or injurious character.

There are two classes of purchasers; those who are informed as to the quality of what they buy and the reasons for the excellence of articles of exceptional merit, and who do not lack courage to go elsewhere when a dealer offers an imitation of any well known article; but, unfortunately, there are some people who do not know, and who allow themselves to be imposed upon. They cannot expect its beneficial effects if they do not get the genuine remedy.

ROUNDING A CENTURY OF CHURCH EXISTENCE

Oldest Catholic Edifice in This Section Will Celebrate Its Anniversary.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

FREEPORT, PA., Oct. 27.—St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church in Sugar Creek township, within a short time will have seen 100 years of service and the congregation is planning an anniversary celebration to take place early in 1906.

The first priest to visit the settlement was Father Lanigan who performed baptisms there in 1801. Father P. Heilbron was the next in 1803. He also officiated at Slippery Rock. In 1806 Father Lawrence Sylvester Phelan located where the church was subsequently built. The present farm of 200 acres was purchased and a small log cabin was built for the priest. On fixed days men of the congregation met at the farm and cut logs enough for a church. The building was erected in the fall after Father Phelan's arrival, but as no nails could be secured the roof was not put on until the next spring. The building which is still standing is believed to be the oldest Catholic church in Western Pennsylvania.

Father Phelan remained there until 1810. From 1810 to 1820 the congregation was visited occasionally by various priests. Father Charles Perry served the parish from 1821 to 1827. He was followed by Father Patrick O'Neal, Father Patrick Rafferty, Father Joseph Cody, Father J. O. G. Scanlon, Father James P. Tabany, Father S. P. Herman, Father Thomas Fitzgerald, Father P. M. Doyle, Father P. J. Quilter, Father William Fries and Father Diskin. New Year's night, 1872, it was destroyed by fire and the congregation worshipped in the old log church until the present structure was dedicated in 1877.

BOSTON POLICE FIND ANOTHER SUIT CASE

This One Contained Legs and Arms of the Woman's Body Found Weeks Ago.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—The suit-case mystery of September 21, when the dismembered torso of a woman was found in a dress suit-case floating in the harbor, was brought into prominence again late today, when a second suit-case was found in the Charles river.

The case found today contained the arms and legs, said by medical experts to be those of a woman, and the police say there is no doubt but that they are the missing members of the torso. On the fingers of the hands there were three rings. Two of the rings were on the ring finger of the right hand and the third was on the little finger of the same hand.

The pawnbroker who sold the case in which the torso was found, today identified the case in which the legs and arms were found as another he sold to the purchaser of the first case. Oilcloth similar to that found about the torso was also found in the case recovered today.

MONESSEN IS PLEASED WITH ITS FILTRATION

Analysis Shows Nearly 100 Per Cent Efficiency, and Typhoid Decreases 70 Per Cent.

Monessen residents are gratified with the showing which is being made by their new filtration plant. Tests were made recently of the purity of the water. The test of the sample sent to the Pittsburgh laboratory was taken September 29, and it is claimed that there was no effort to distinguish the sample from any other water in use. The analysis showed that in a cubic centimeter of river water there were 1,435 bacteria. Five minutes after washing this was reduced to five. In 25 minutes it was down to one and four hours later but one was shown. As this is practically 100 per cent efficiency, the plant is considered a big success.

The typhoid fever record of Monessen for the year to date shows a decrease of 70 per cent over the corresponding period of 1904, when the plant was not in use. During the hot days of August and September it is said a great deal of contaminated well water was in use, and at that time there were several cases, which have hurt the good record of the rest of the year.

GIRL WIFE RETURNS TO HER AGED HUSBAND

"It Was Wrong to Run Away," Says Myrle, "But I Must Make the Best of It Now."

The pleading of Dr. A. M. Grubbs of McKeesport, who last week married 18-year-old Myrle Beatty, has finally won his girl wife back, and she left her parents' home in Sand alley last night to live with her aged husband. The latter called at the Beatty home yesterday and managed to secure an interview with his wife. The girl's parents were obdurate and up until last night declared they would never be reconciled to the match, but after the girl announced that she intended to leave with her husband despite their opposition, they reluctantly gave their consent and the couple left on friendly terms with Mr. and Mrs. Beatty.

Dr. Grubbs said he had secured rooms in Fifth avenue and that he and his wife would go at once to housekeeping. Mrs. Grubbs said that she feared no further trouble and wanted the notoriety she has received to die out.

The girl wife acknowledges she made a mistake in running away with Dr. Grubbs last Friday. "But it is done now," she said, "so I might as well make the best of it, I guess."

COURT HOUSE TANGLE MAY SUSPEND ALL WORK

Westmoreland County Commissioners Refuse to Pay Any More Money for Big Structure.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

GREENSBURG, PA., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—The court house muddle took a new turn today when the county commissioners announced they would not make any additional loans to pay the architect's estimates and work on the structure in all likelihood will be stopped tomorrow.

The commissioners have already borrowed $850,000 from Greensburg banks, paying 5 per cent interest and there was due the contractors $58,000 yesterday. When the bill was presented for payment the commissioners refused to draw a warrant.

The commissioners are determined not to consider the offer made by the syndicate of banks for the purchase of the $1,000,000 bond issue at a premium of $12,500 and insist that the bonds have already been sold to Lucien Clawson and John S. Sell at a lower premium.

THE W. & J. YELL IS HEARD TODAY

Red and Black Eleven to Meet Georgetown University at Friendship Park.

LARGE CROWD PROMISED

The "Wichi Ko Ax, Ko Ax, Ko Ax" of Washington and Jefferson will be heard in Pittsburgh today, the first time this season. The Georgetown university will simultaneously make its first appearance in the west. These forces will meet at Friendship park at football, and the contest promises to be one of the very best of the local season's playing.

Georgetown will come west with its best team of the year. The park has been put in fine shape and the playing field is all that the players could desire. The supporters of both colleges will be out in full force. So a great afternoon of sport is ahead. The kickoff will take place at 2:30.

The Dickinson college team will be at Exposition park to meet W. U. P., so the local patrons will have no difficulty in finding football in plenty today. The Dickinson players arrived in Pittsburgh last night. Dickinson objected to Dr. Farrar serving as an official, claiming that he was a member of the advisory board of W. U. P., but when this was pointed out as an error Dickinson then recalled its objections.

The W. and J. students will arrive in Pittsburgh early this morning. Manager Wicks has arranged to have a special train leave Washington at 9 o'clock and two at noon. Several hundred people will come over, it was said. There is a large Georgetown following in Pittsburgh and hereabouts, and they will be out in force. There are many who desire to get a "line on" the W. and J. team, and they, too, will attend.

A Washington special last night said:

The final practice before the game with Georgetown in Pittsburgh tomorrow afternoon was held this afternoon behind closed gates. The practice consisted of nothing but signal work and punting. The lineup for the W. and J. team was made public this afternoon by Head Coach Piekarski and two men who have been on the scrubs will be taken into the varsity for the game. Ward, a Bellevue boy, will take Moore's place at right and Morris will probably be given a try at right half. About 1,200 tickets have been sold for the game in Washington and it is expected that all of the three special trains leaving Washington tomorrow will be crowded. The students paraded the town this evening.

Coach Mosse of W. U. P has been trying new combination every day in practice in an effort to pick out the best men. Several rather startling changes are appdrent in the lineup for today. Miller, the big Butler boy, who has not played on the varsity so far this year, will be sent in at left tackle against Capt. Davis of the Dickinson team. McKinney, the new lineman, who will be tried out at left guard, weighs 226 pounds and is one of the heaviest men on the squad. Turner, who has been playing left tackle, will be in at center, and Yielding at right guard. An unexpected development yesterday afternoon was the substitution of Frank Griggs for Swenson at quarterback. Swenson will probably be given a chance in the second half. The lineup follows:

W. U. P.		Dickinson.
Perry (Q. Banbury)	L. E.	Robison
Miller	L. T.	Parris
McKinney (Leidenroth)	L. G.	Messiner
Turner (McKean)	C.	Hoffman
Yielding (Edgar)	R. G.	Harry
Marshall	R. T.	Davis
East	R. E.	Walters
F. Griggs (Swenson)	Q. B.	Simpson
A. Grigga (Springer)	L. H.	McIntire
Schmidt (Klawuhn)	R. H.	Trebahn
W. Banbury (Mohl)	F. B.	Klingstine

The game will begin at 3 o'clock sharp.

Crollus Played for Pittsburgh.

B. L., Pittsburgh—Fred Crollus played right field for the Pittsburgh team in 1902. He helped out after the release of Lefty Davis.

AL KAUFMANN KNOCKED OUT BY JACK O'BRIEN

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—It took Jack O'Brien, a veteran of 200 fights, 17 rounds tonight to knock out Al Kaufmann, who fought his second battle as a professional. Kaufmann took a beating such as has seldom been suffered in the history of San Francisco fights. Kaufmann, a husky 19-year-old boy, who is credited with a punch, could not land.

O'Brien's sidestepping, ducking and general foot work was a marvelous exhibition of skill. Kaufmann, with all his strength could only land an occasional blow that never hit a vital spot. O'Brien, cool and self-possessed, danced in and out, hitting the youngster almost at will.

Early in the fight Kaufmann's left eye was closed and his nose commenced to bleed. In spite of the terrible punishment administered to him, the boy kept after his experienced adversary, and on several occasions rallied and fought back in a manner that brought the spectators to their feet.

In the seventeenth round a succession of left-hand punches to the jaw staggered Kaufmann, and then O'Brien put over a right cross to the jaw, and the California boy fell to the mat, his head striking with great force.

Kaufmann was a hot favorite at odds of 10 to 6.

SEBRING TO MANAGE THE WILLIAMSPORT TEAM

Sebring, the former outfielder of the Cincinnati Nationals, was tonight elected manager and captain of the Williamsport Tri-State champions for the season of 1906, succeeding Max L. Lindheimer. Sebring played part of last season here. This year he was traded, together with Steinfeldt, for Weimer of Chicago.

The basketball team is already out for practice. Weger, Albrecht and Thompson of last year's team are in school. The promising candidates are Ramsey, Gray, Dulen, Harter, Moser, Morrison and Dutney.

Bellevue Y. M. C. A. plays Trinity hall at Bellevue today.

Allegheny Prep. has canceled on Trinity Hall for November 25. The Sewickley High school has called off its games for November 4 and 20. Trinity Hall may arrange games with Pittsburgh High school and Kiski.

WALLACE J. SUTTER, THE W. & J. CAPTAIN

COLUMBIA IS EXPECTED TO HUSTLE PRINCETON

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—Amid a storm of songs, cheers and enthusiasm the Tiger squad left Princeton this evening for New York, where they will face Columbia tomorrow afternoon. The squad is composed of 28 men and was accompanied by J. E. Fine, Coaches Hillebrand, Roper, Kelley, Burke and Riggs, and also by Dr. Carnochan, who is looking after the condition of the men. The squad is composed of the following men:

1906—Brasher, Tooker, Rafferty, Carothers, Munn, Bard, Daub, Waller, Otis, Hardy, Bokum.

1907—Cooney, Dillon, Herring, Tenney, Willock and McClintock.

1908—McCormick, Simons, Phillips, Hamil, Harlan.

1909—Dillon, Fryer, Wallock, O'Brien, Vaughn and Moscrip.

Princeton is confident about the result of the struggle tomorrow, but it is believed that it will be no child's play. A good many of the men are disabled from one cause or another, and, in consequence, it is difficult to predict who will appear in the lineup. There is a strong chance that Herring will not be in the game, as he left the infirmary today and is in no condition for such a struggle as yet. Another man who is needed but may not be used is McCormick. He has been troubled with persistent boils and is in a bad condition.

Cornell.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—Trainer Jack Moakley, who has charge of conditioning the Cornell football men, is asserting his rights on Percy field just at present. The varsity has shown superb development during the past week and things begin to look mighty bright for the Red and White, but the keen eye of Moakley has detected that some of the men are on the verge of too fine condition. Consequently he has ordered rest for several. Tomorrow in the game with Haverford Halliday will be missed in the line for the first time this year. Schildmiller, Cook, O'Rourke and Martin will also be absent. There is a fear that Halliday will go stale. Such an event would be serious for the backfield.

Yale.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—Twenty-six players of the Yale football squad left here this evening on the way to West Point for Yale's first out-of-town game this season. Fourteen more players will leave here tomorrow. Every man of the first squad looks physically fit to play the hardest kind of football. The coaches are confident that the team knows the game well enough to make an excellent contest of it with the cadets.

Today's work on Yale field was wholly in the kicking and catching departments. The varsity and college elevens scrimmaged for nearly half an hour, off and on, but the formation was continually the same—a protective scheme, while Verder, Wylie and Roome in succession punted. Only once was a kick blocked. Yale will face West Point tomorrow in the following lineup:

U. of P.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27.—(Special.)—The 'varsity was given a sharp 20 minutes' practice against the scrubs today, which resulted in the scrubs fairly pushing the 'varsity off their feet, down the field and across the line for a touchdown. Dyer carrying the ball. It was a hot scrimmage while it lasted, but the coaches, realizing what the men had to go through tomorrow, sent most of the regulars to the dressing-rooms and filled the holes made vacant by substitutes. The scrubs kicked off to the 'varsity sub-eleven and held for downs against the ball in the middle of the field, then by close formations and varied attack, in which Hobson and Zilligan were the objects of attack, the scrubs pushed the 'varsity down across their goal line. It was playing of the fastest order that the scrubs put up and the 'varsity line couldn't stop them. The game resulted: Scrubs, 15; 'varsity subs, 0.

UNGERS BREAK SEASON'S MARK

FINE WORK DONE BY FATKINS

The Ungers of the Pittsburgh section of the county league last night rolled the best match of the season. The match took place on the St. Joseph-Casino alleys and the Glenwoods fell victims in all three games. The Ungers made three 900 scores, something no other team has done. In fact, previous to last night only four scores above 900 were made in the league: 1,035 in the Allegheny section, by the Federals; 906 in the Monongahela section, by North Braddock, and 924 and 940 in the Pittsburgh section by Brunswick and Unity, respectively. In the South Pittsburgh league only one 900 score was made, St. Vincent getting 914. This will give an idea of the importance of the work set by the Ungers. An average of 922 1-3 is not made every day. These are the figures hung up by them. Individually the team also did fine work, Myers getting an average of 195 2-3, and Gaus an average of 191 2-3. Every member got a total of over 590, and the lowest average was 180 2-3.

However, the boss bowler was Fatkins of the Glenwoods. He cracked the season's figures by rolling an average of 205. He made ten 200 scores, getting 205 in the first game and 213 in the last. In the second he made 197, and therefore came within three pins of chalking up three 200 scores! It is only the third time the feat of rolling two 200 scores in a match was accomplished this season. Peter Hornich did it on October 16, and Andy Kramer on October 25. Fatkins was the only player on the Glenwood team last night who rolled every game. All the others dropped out either after the first or after the second game. Scores:

Not a club should fail to have a representative at the meeting of the Pittsburgh Bowling association tomorrow at 8 o'clock on the Federal alleys. All the clubs in the Allegheny County league and the South Pittsburgh league are members and all other clubs should be, as it is the connecting link between Pittsburgh and all other bowlers in the country.

HUEBNER TIES ITTEL FOR THE FIRST PRIZE

The eighteenth annual tournament of the Iroquois Rifle club came to an end last night on the South Side indoor range. Although the shooters were not as many as expected, the tournament was a success. L. P. Ittel and A. J. Huebner tied for first place, each getting four 74s. Huebner's shooting was the feature. He steadily kept after the champion and can feel proud of the result. Not a 75, the limit, was made, yet the shoot was hotly contested. This can be seen by the fact that only eight points separate the first man from the eighth. Gaysuta, the Indian, was a little bit unsteady and made a total of only 216, his best score being 71. The scores follow:

W. & J. LIKENED UNTO A CIRCUS

Murray Livingston Makes Collegians Pay License Before They Play Georgetown Today.

NEVER DID THIS BEFORE

The Washington and Jefferson football team, with its students who accompany it to Pittsburgh for the purpose of lending encouragement and giving vent to true college spirit, has been likened unto a circus. The person who drew the comparison yesterday was Murray Livingston, chief ordinance officer, and one of the "big guns" in the Citizens party.

W. and J. must pay a license of $20 before it is permitted to play Georgetown university this afternoon at Friendship park, declared Livingston yesterday. No other college team has ever been compelled to pay such a tax, but Livingston says he has discovered a law which makes an outside team pay this tax.

Livingston declared yesterday he had no interest in the matter, but friends of W. and J. surmise his stand was an inspired one.

"Why should not W. and J. pay the license fee?" queried Livingston. "Is it not an outside team? The reason I did not make other teams pay is because I did not know of their playing, and then again I discovered the law when the matter was brought to my attention. W. and J. must pay, that's all there is to it. They have as much right to pay as has a circus, and they will come into Pittsburgh and play just like a circus would perform," concluded Livingston.

Minims Win Practice Game.

The Pittsburgh College Minims defeated the Minim Reserves in a practice game yesterday afternoon 10 to 0. The features were the end runs of Charlton and R. Drake, and on the other side, the tackling of L. Drake and Parker. Touchdowns—Strako, Scanlon. Referee—W. Fannin. Umpire—Corcoran. Time of halves—10 and 25 minutes.

Councils Will Not Hold Regular Meeting Monday—City Business at a Standstill.

DIRECTOR DISPENSES FAVORS

"What's the use of calling a lot of business men together when there is nothing for them to do?" queried Director Bigelow yesterday when asked if the city councils would hold their regular meeting on Monday as scheduled. If one is held on Monday it will be the last regular meeting prior to the election on November 7.

Director Bigelow's statement, however, is proof that there will not be a quorum next Monday. All business at the city hall has been practically suspended during the past three weeks on account of the approaching county election. Even Controller Larkin's typewriter is silent. Director Bigelow wishes to dispense with any more meetings before the election for fear something might happen in councils to make votes for the Republican ticket and he has, therefore, ordered that Citizens members shall absent themselves next week. After next Monday there will not be another session of the Pittsburgh councils until November 14.

Not only has Director Bigelow ordered councils to suspend operations until after the election, but the entire payroll is devoting its time to getting votes instead of attending to public business. Almost every office in the city is being run with a scant force. Those who are not on the outside vote-getting are employed in the offices writing postal cards requesting voters to attend district and ward meetings held by the Citizens party throughout the city. The scheme of the administration is to have every man on the payroll send a postal card to each one of his friends or acquaintances urging him to attend these ward and district meetings. A record is kept at the city hall of every person who has received a railroad pass and he is expected to return the favor. This is expected to win hundreds of votes for the Citizens ticket.

"Now is the time to get a favor from the city administration," said one city official yesterday. "If you can't get it now, you can never get it. No person is turned down now if there is the slightest chance of satisfying him. I think it will be different after election."

Director Bigelow is kept busy all day at his office dispensing favors in the shape of jobs, railroad passes and the like. Few go away disappointed. A laborer who had been employed in the highways and sewers bureau, but had been laid off, called to see Director Bigelow yesterday and sent in his name. Without seeing the man or asking questions, the director instructed the clerk to take him to the highways and sewers bureau and notify the superintendent to reinstate him.

SMOKERS WILL JUBILATE TODAY

Rapid Firing Sale of Cigars at Kaufmann's Owing to Change in Management.

Smokers who count it a boon to cut down their cigar bills on their favorite brand, without cutting out any smokes, will hustle to Kaufmann's post-haste after reading the special advertisement on our sporting goods page today.

This good story tells of cigars, stogies, cigarettes and pipes cut in prices to figures that are an incentive to draw money from the bank and invest in future smoke, if one's pocket funds are low.

The most popular brands will go first, so knowing men will make haste to get whatever they want today.

THE wedding of Miss Katherine Elkins, third daughter of Mrs. George W. Elkins of North Highland avenue, to Albert Curry, will be a home event on the evening of Wednesday, November 15. Owing to the recent death of Miss Elkins' father the wedding will be very quiet and only the immediate relatives will witness the ceremony, which is to be performed by the Rev. H. C. Peepels of Rochester, N. Y., a brother-in-law of the bride. Miss Louise B. Elkins will be her sister's only attendant and William L. Curry will serve as his brother's best man. Although no definite plans have been made as to when or where the bridal couple will be at home, they will reside in this city. Miss Elkins expects to have two school friends, Miss Cook of Norfolk, Va., and Miss Greenfield of Montclair, N. J., with her over the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scott Estabrook, the latter formerly Miss Laura J. Curry, will come from their home in Syracuse, N. Y., to attend the wedding, and will be entertained by Mrs. Estabrook's mother, Mrs. Henry M. Curry of Homewood avenue.

Reception to Meet Bride.

Simple but exquisite decorations, handsome gowning and a representative gathering of Pittsburgh and Allegheny maids and matrons characterized Mrs. David G. McCormick's reception yesterday as one of the most brilliant affairs of the fall. It was given by Mrs. McCormick and her daughter, Miss Sophia Grant McCormick, to meet the former's daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Shoenberger McCormick, a bride of last August. There was a long line of assistants, the list including Mrs. Frank S. Bissell, Miss Mary Louise Jackson, Mrs. A. S. M. Morgan, Mrs. Joseph Bernard Shea, Mrs. W. Henry Singer, Mrs. James H. McIlvaine, Mrs. David Glenn Stewart, Miss Edith McIlvaine, Miss Anne McIlvaine, Miss Mary Sawyer, Miss Annie D. Dalzell, Mrs. Harry Palmer Peirs, Mrs. John Woodwell, Miss Emma Snyder, Mrs. William D. Foster, Mrs. Wesley G. Carr, Mrs. James E. Umbstaetter, Miss Rebecca Shields, Mrs. William P. DeArmitt, Mrs. Robert Townsend, Mrs. James Verner Scaife, Mrs. Wallace H. Rowe, Mrs. Samuel J. Graham, Mrs. Lindsay King, Mrs. Jacob J. Miller, Mrs. Robert Wilson Patterson, Mrs. Robert R. Lazear, Miss Emily Copeland Lyon, Miss Hester Singer, Miss Evelyn Black and Miss Elizabeth Eaton. Large cactus dahlias, with yellow centers shaded into pink edges, made gay the pretty ballroom and dining-room of the clubhouse. One corner of the ballroom was filled with palms, and before this the receiving party stood. The balcony railing was decked with smilax and drooping from each corner was arranged a palm. The huge fireplace in the ballroom was filled with potted plants and the mantel was banked with ferns, through which shone the silver cups belonging to the club. Smilax was trailed up the banisters and the fireplace and mantel in the reception-room were banked with greens. The table was particularly beautiful, in its center being a low mound of the dahlias, around which stood the glass candlesticks, with pink candles carried by pink silk floral shades.

Neale-Thatcher Bridal Party.

Miss Rebecca Jennings and Miss Georgia Neale Heard of this city have been chosen as bridesmaids by Miss Martha Elizabeth Neale, who will be married to Frederick Hoyt Thatcher next Saturday, St. Stephen's Protestant Episcopal church, Sewickley, will be the scene of the wedding at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and a reception at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Alonzo Potter Neale, will follow the church service. In addition to the two Pittsburgh maids the bridal party will include a matron of honor, Mrs. Philip A. Merrill of Williamsport, and bridesmaids, Miss Mabel Thatcher of New Canaan, Conn., and Miss Elsie H. Stanton of New York; flower girl, Miss Katherine Brown; best man, Joseph R. Swan of Stamford, Conn., and the ushers, James B. Neale of Bucks Run, a brother of the bride; John W. Dix of Sewickley, Dr. Walter Riddle of Allegheny, Parton Swift of Buffalo, Frederick McBriar and Harry Boyd of Erie. The bridal couple will live in New York.

Will Be Married at Noon.

Miss Hettie McCutcheon Martin, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Martin of Wilkinsburg, and George Heber McCandless of Oakmont, will be married at noon next Tuesday. The marriage will occur in St. Stephen's Protestant Episcopal church, Wilkinsburg, the Rev. J. Heber McCandless of Smethport, Pa., an uncle of the bridegroom, reading the service. Miss Martin will be attended by her cousins, Miss Clarissa Norton McCracken, as maid of honor, and Mr. McCandless will have his brother, Frank Howard McCandless, as best man. The party will be completed by the ushers, Benjamin Martin, the bride's brother, and Howard Armstrong. Mr. Martin will give his daughter's hand in marriage and immediately after the ceremony a wedding breakfast will be served at his home. Mr. McCandless and his bride will take a lake trip, expecting to be at home after December 1 with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. McCandless, in Oakmont.

Miss McCandless Is Honor Guest.

Miss Mary Gertrude McCandless, the bride-elect of Robert Blakeney Petty, Jr., was guest of honor at a euchre given yesterday by Mrs. William M. Stevenson and her sister, Mrs. William Pierson Barker. Six-hand euchre was played at 11 tables, and the prizes were won by Mrs. Wilton Lackey of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Thomas Hanna, Miss Daisy Everhardt and Mrs. Harry Grier. The same number of tables were called into play in the evening, when the two sisters entertained again for the same guest of honor. Yellow and white chrysanthemums were used to decorate Mrs. Stevenson's home in Woodlawn avenue, where both affairs were conducted.

Three Hostesses at Reception.

Mrs. Eliza N. Billington and her two daughters, Mrs. William H. McKenna and Miss Beatrice Billington, received their friends from 3 until 6 and from 8 until 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Daniel Carlos Stewart of Philadelphia, a sister-in-law of Mrs. McKenna. It also served to introduce Miss Billington, who finished at Oak Lane seminary last June.

Depressed by Physical and Financial Ills.

There was a feeling of depression throughout the sessions of the annual meeting of the United Presbyterian Women's association yesterday in the Fourth United Presbyterian church, Allegheny. The absence of the president, Mrs. H. C. Campbell, because of the serious illness of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Humphries Miller, who is in the Mercy hospital, together with the trouble brought close to the association through the collapse of the Enterprise National Bank, cast a gloom over the women. Mrs. Levi Bird Duff, the first vice-president, presided, and at the afternoon session a short season of prayer was conducted for Mrs. Miller's recovery.

The report of the treasurer, Mrs. M. J. Steele, was listened to with the deepest interest by the members of the association. Mrs. Steele stated that at present the association has $4,460 31 deposited in the Enterprise National bank, in trust for the Orphans' home. Mrs. Steele expressed the utmost confidence that every cent of this money will be refunded to the association. Mrs. D. K. Bryce going even further and stating that she believed the money would be paid within the year. No so confident are other women in the association, who yesterday said that somebody is likely to loose through the bank trouble and the United Presbyterian Women's association should stand no better chance of securing all its deposits than any other depositor, whether an individual or an organization. The reserve funds of the Orphans' home, the hospital and the home for the aged are now in several institutions, some of the funds being deposited in the Monongahela National bank and others in the Industrial National bank. The recent extensive building operations at both the Home for the Aged and the new Columbia hospital have reduced some of these funds.

Mrs. L. B. Duff, the testamentary secretary, an office but recently created by the association, read her first report. It showed the following receipts and bequests: Orphans' home, $26,925 21; Aged People's home, $21,886 41; Columbia hospital, just completed in Wilkinsburg, $5,307 85. Total, $66,719 47. The report also shows that the first contribution to the Orphans' home was made on May 7, 1881; the first to the Aged People's home, July 17, 1895, and the first to the Columbia hospital, November 2, 1899.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. H. C. Campbell; first vice president, Mrs. A. K. Duff; second vice president, Mrs. N. Wylie Stevenson; recording secretary, Miss Etta Clark; corresponding secretary, Mrs. John McElvain; treasurer, Mrs. M. J. Public Contributions to Hospitals.

At the annual meeting of the Hospital Saturday and Sunday Association held in the assembly rooms of the Free Dispensary building yesterday afternoon, addresses were made by the Rev. Dr. E. R. Donehoo and the Rev. D. Flanigan, Ph. D. The invocation was made by the Rev. Dr. T. N. Boyle. The present officers were re-elected for the ensuing year as follows: President, W. M. This was a decrease in receipts from last year of $488 13.

The total disbursements were shown to have been $8,413 71, with a cash balance of $443 38 remaining in the treasury on October 1. The record of the associated hospital's free resident days and the sum received from the association, is as follows:

West Penn, 28,013 patients, received $1,500; Homeopathic, 28,611 patients, received $1,778; Allegheny General, 21,068 patients, received $1,425; St. John's, 5,048 patients, received $540; Pittsburgh Hospital for Children, 5,815 patients, received $409; South Side, 5,509 patients, received $400; Presbyterian, 1,589 patients, received $185; Free Dispensary office privileges, $75. Chairmen Plan for New Year.

The chairmen of the many committees of the Central Young Women's Christian association met yesterday afternoon and discussed plans for the new year. Interesting features of the associational work in Germany, India, Japan and America, as described at the world's conference last year, were discussed by Miss Elizabeth Barrett, Miss Lyda Young, Miss Henrietta Logan and Miss Alice Logan. Miss Annie E. Robinson presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. John C. Holmes. Each chairman was called on to tell in a couple of minutes the value of her committee to the association. Encouragement was given the women by the report of Mrs. Holmes [illegible] most the entire amount to be paid on the lots secured for the new association building in Chatham street has been secured. The women intend making a great effort to secure the remaining amount in a few weeks, so that plans may be drawn up at once and work on the building itself started before the first of next April.

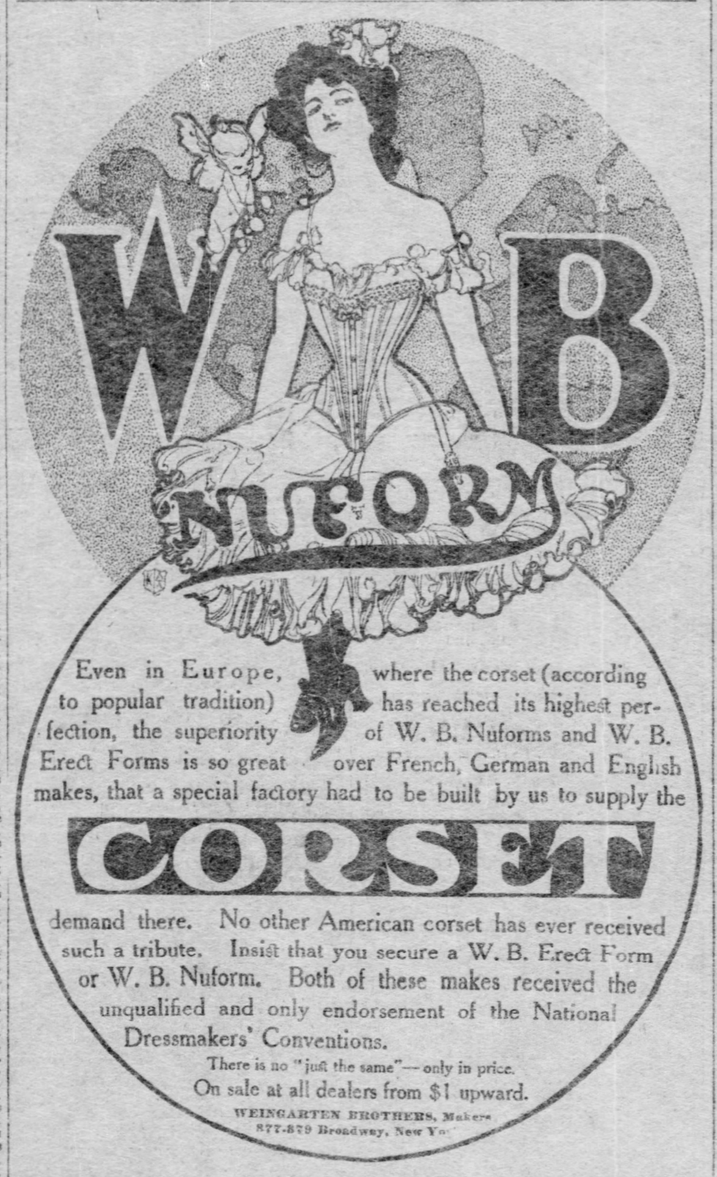
Look Up the Realty Lists in The Sunday Gazette.



Even in Europe, where the corset (according to popular tradition) has reached its highest perfection, the superiority of W. B. Nuforms and W. B. Erect Forms is so great over French, German and English makes, that a special factory had to be built by us to supply the demand there. No other American corset has ever received such a tribute. Insist that you secure a W. B. Erect Form or W. B. Nuform. Both of these makes received the unqualified and only endorsement of the National Dressmakers' Conventions.

MUCH PLEASED WITH THE TOUR

M. and M. Excursionists Return and Declare Latest Trip to Be the Most Beneficial.

NEXT IS TO BE IN THE SPRING

After a five-day tour of Western Pennsylvania without a disappointing feature aside from the weather, the fifth trade extension excursion of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association came to an end when the heavy train bearing the excursionists arrived in the Baltimore & Ohio railroad station shortly before 5 o'clock last evening.

President Lloyd, Vice President Neely and Secretary Wardrop voiced the sentiments of the entire party when they declared that the trip had attained better results than any of the others held. The excursionists, by experience, had learned to make the best of their opportunities, and the welcomes received all along the line were of the sincerest kind.

After a night in Connellsville the travelers visited Scottdale and Mt. Pleasant yesterday morning by trolley, joining their special train at the latter place. In Scottdale the excursionists were met by a committee and entertained during the brief stay. The committee consisted of J. O. Landenberger, Israel Marks, W. T. Reese, W. J. Brakell, B. H. Boyd, J. B. Snoupe, A. L. Porter, A. H. Humphreys, C. H. Elcher, O. D. Wiemer and T. J. Robinson.

Mt. Pleasant furnished one of the novelties of the trip when the sun came out and shone upon the arrival of the visitors—the first time sunshine was present during the five days out. Here an address was made by M. A. King and the boys of the town entertained with their drum and fife corps. A committee consisting of C. F. Rumbaugh, I. J. McWilliams, L. S. Tintsman, William Overholt, J. J. Hitchman, I. R. Smith, W. M. Smith, Charles Pross, Elmer Springer, James Dillon and Daniel Edwards entertained the visitors.

Speechmaking was dispensed with at Dawson, though a committee was on hand to offer entertainment. It consisted of C. G. Schwartz, C. J. McGill, P. C. McGibbons, J. L. Thomas, J. S. Laughrey, J. S. Wertz and G. G. Moore.

West Newton, the last stop made on the tour, accorded the tourists a royal reception. A brass band and the population as a whole turned out to tender greetings. Business was suspended and school children were given a recess. Marching to Greenwalt hall an address of welcome was delivered by C. C. Blackmore, who told of the needs for better passenger service on the railroads and gave the information that the place was "a water-wagon town." President Lloyd and Secretary Wardrop responded. A committee consisting of Capt. W. S. Finney, W. L. Goehring, J. H. Chain and R. G. Greenewalt escorted the insurgents through the town.

The next trade extension excursion will take place in the spring and present indications are that Northern Ohio will be toured.

In the Oil Fields

On Mods run, near Downs station in Lincoln district, Marion county, F. W. Bartlett & Co. have drilled in a test on the F. Downs farm that is reported flowing at the rate of 100 barrels a day. If as good as reported this is the best producer that has been found in that district for many months.

In the Jula district, Monongalia county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 18 on the Haught-Walker farm to a depth of 3,235 feet, and has a light show of oil. In the same district the same company has drilled to a depth of 3,400 feet at the L. Yeager No. 2 and has developed no oil or gas. In the Wallace district, Harrison county, the same company's No. 1 on the S. A. Cavalier farm is holding up at 90 barrels a day since it was given a shot.

In the new development, near Wellsburg, Brook county, Bruner & Co. have drilled their second test on the Nancy Bryans farm through the Berea grit, and since giving it a shot will not have better than a 5-barrel pumper. This district shows more experimental work under way and starting than any other in the lower southwest.

In Dade township, Beaver county, Pa., the Ann Oil Company has completed a test on the Barrett farm and has a duster in the Berea grit. In the Brush Creek field, Allegheny county, Leidecker & Co. have drilled their test on the Peter Shenot farm, dry in the 100-foot, to the boulder and have a producer good for 25 barrels a day.

North of Delhaven, in the same county, Hoch Bros. completed No. 3 on the Kessler heirs' farm and get a very light pumper.

The first large cargo of walnuts of the present season was brought in by the Greenland yesterday from Charleston. The cargo consisted of 2,000 bushels, and the walnuts were all of good size. BIGELOW SAYS ELEVATED WILL BOOM PROPERTY

Director Claims Duquesene Way Real Estate Will Advance $2,000 a Front Foot.

"I would advise any person who has money to invest to buy Duquesne way property. It is bound to increase $2,000 a front foot in value because of the Pennsylvania elevated railroad built along the river front," said Director Bigelow yesterday. "The value of Duquesne way property will increase in value as manufacturing sites. In a few years manufacturing establishments will be strung all along Duquesne way. It's a chance for a good speculation."

"How about the proposed elevated railroad in Liberty avenue, director?"

"There never will be an elevated railroad in Liberty avenue downtown," said he. "When Mr. Stevenson says it is proposed to build an elevated line in Liberty avenue he is saying that which he knows positively is not true. I know the Philadelphia Company has no intention of building an elevated road in Liberty avenue and I know the Pennsylvania railroad does not intend to. The charters the Philadelphia Company had for an elevated line in Liberty avenue are defunct.

"Mr. Stevenson says, it is not the Pennsylvania railroad nor the Philadelphia Company that is going to build the elevated, but a syndicate, backed by the administration, and that this syndicate is going to turn the road over to the Pennsylvania company after it is completed."

"That's all wind," replied Mr. Bigelow. "Mr. Stevenson is not able to produce an iota of proof or evidence beyond his own statement."

"When are the Pennsylvania railroad tracks in Liberty avenue to be removed?"

"Just as soon as the elevated line along Duquesne way is in operation. I suppose some time next spring. The time allowed by councils for the tracks to be removed has about expired, but they cannot be taken up until the railroad can use its new line in Duquesne way."

SUES NEGRO POLICEMAN.

John Adamasek Says Officer Beat Him to Make Him Withdraw Suit Against Another Negro.

W. T. Banks, a negro policeman, was arrested yesterday on a charge of aggravated assault and battery and gave bail for his appearance at a hearing before Alderman Groetzinger. John Adamasek of 4 Conklin street alleges that during a quarrel at his home on Tuesday evening the policeman struck him over the head with his mace, cutting his head open, and otherwise abused him.

According to the story told by Adamasek his brother Adam Adamasek has sued a negro, who, he says, is a friend of the defendant, and the policeman, in company with the defendant to the suit, went to his home apparently for the purpose of frightening him into dropping the case. It was during an argument over this that the alleged assault took place. Adamasek also alleges that afterward Banks, in company with another officer, went to his home, saying they were going to arrest him, but when he signified his willingness to go along with them, acknowledged they did not want him.

Commissioners Let Contracts.

The county commissioners awarded a number of small contracts yesterday. They included the repairing of the sidewalks around the court house, which work will be done by De Grazia Bros. for $1,074; reflooring bridges over Robinson's run, No. 1 over Whisky run and No. 4 over Sawmill run, to F. M. Vanmeister, $700; underpinning at Parks run bridge to T. C. Litterio, $265; filling approaches to bridges: No. 1, Lick run, Foley Bros., $295; Davis run, J. Poll, $1,300; Hartmans run, J. Poll, $420; Wileys run, John Hippert, Jr., $3,200.

Patrick's Last Hope is Gone.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 27.—The court of appeals today denied the motion for a re-argument of the appeal of Albert T. Patrick from conviction of murder in the first degree and sentence of death for the killing in 1900 of W. F. Rice. The decision apparently deprives Patrick of his last hope of interference. The court of appeals within a few days will assign a new date for his execution.

EMIL PAUR HOLDS FIRST REHEARSAL

Broomstick Comes in Handy as a Substitute for the Conductor's Baton.

Director Emil Paur led the first rehearsal of the Pittsburgh orchestra in Carnegie music hall yesterday morning with a broomstick. He had 13 nationalities represented in the new company of musicians before him and he required a good, stiff baton in order to carry his players through Beethoven's Seventh symphony and Siegfried's death march. Of course Mr. Paur did not use the broomstick for any belligerent purpose, not even with so many diverse nationalities in his orchestra, but seized the piece of broomstick because it came handy and supplied the lack of a regular baton.

The hall is now practically ready for the celebration of Founder's day next week, and in its new treatment of marble presents a much more magnificent appearance than formerly. Mr. Paur and his men were not disturbed by the workmen, and beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning he continued three hours. Rehearsals will be held every day at the same hour until Thursday.

"I am surprised at the success of our first meeting," said Mr. Paur yesterday afternoon. "We have a number of new men in the orchestra and the ensemble was unusually good considering that this is the first time we have played together. This is the first time I have had the opportunity to select my own players, and I am more than satisfied that I used good judgment. We take up our work this year with the memory of our success last season and with fresh enthusiasm for this."

LOCATE FOUR MONUMENTS.

Tributes to Men Who Fought at Antietam to Be Placed Behind the Regimental Lines.

Members of the commission who went to Antietam on Monday to locate the monuments of the Third, Fourth, Seventh and Eighth Pennsylvania reserves, returned yesterday. They succeeded in getting a very satisfactory location.

The greater part of the battlefield is in possession of private owners, the government owning little except the broad avenues it has laid out across the field. The commissioners found that monuments built on the private property are too often in the midst of cultivated fields where it is impossible for visitors to approach.

Mansfield avenue, in itself a monument to the commander of the Twelfth corps, runs to the rear of the line occupied by the reserves during the fight. The four regiments for which monuments are to be built were Meade's brigade of the corps. The left was held by the Eighth reserves down toward the creek, the line being continued to the right by the Fourth, Third and Seventh regiments, the latter touching the east woods. Meade's headquarters were on the line of what is now Mansfield avenue, and the commission decided to locate the four monuments there, each to stand in rear of the position occupied by the regiment for which it stands. Each monument will bear an inscription describing exactly where the regiment stood. Out on the line metal markers will be placed where the regiments actually fought. This plan was adopted, because it will place the monuments where they can be easily visited and will save the money that would be required to buy sites on the fields, allowing more to be expended in the monuments.

A MOTHER'S LOVE.

What Is More Beautiful than a Mother's Love?

"Who ran to help me when I fell
And would some pretty story tell,
Or kiss the place to make it well,
My mother."

A mother's worries are many. She sometimes forgets her own bodily discomforts because of her overpowering love for the child. She becomes broken down, sleepless, nervous, irritable and feels tired from morning until night. Many mothers of experience can tell you that at such a time they have been relieved, benefited and strengthened and put into proper health by taking a prescription which their mothers had told them was the best woman's tonic and nervine to be taken at such times. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has enjoyed an enviable reputation for over a third of a century. In all that time it has sold more largely in the United States than any other tonic for woman's needs, and to-day its sales are greater than ever. Dr. Pierce made up this prescription from native medicinal roots without the use of a particle of alcohol and for the single purpose of curing those diseases peculiar to women and when there is a lack of womanly strength to bear the burdens of maternal duty. How few women come to this critical time with adequate strength. The reason why so many women sink under the strain of motherhood is because they are unprepared. Is preparation then required for motherhood? asks the young woman. And every experienced mother answers —"Yes." "I unhesitatingly advise expectant mothers to use Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. J. W. G. Stephens, of Mila, Va. The reason for this advice is that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best preparative for the maternal function. No matter how healthy and strong a woman may be, she cannot use "Favorite Prescription" as a preparative for maternity without gain of health and comfort. But it is the women who are not strong who best appreciate the great benefits received from the use of "Favorite Prescription." For one thing its use makes the baby's advent practically painless. It has in many cases reduced days of suffering to a brief few hours. It has changed the period of anxiety and struggle into a time of ease and comfort.

A DUTY WOMEN OWE THEMSELVES.

"Good actions speak louder than words," so, too does the testimony of many thousands of women during a third of a century speak louder than mere claims not backed by any such record of cures.

Miss Emma Petty, 1126 S. Olive Street, Indianapolis, Ind., Past Vice-President, Daughters of Pocahontas, Minneola Council, also Organist, South Baptist Church, Indianapolis, writes: "For several years I suffered with leucorrhœa, which was a serious drain on my vitality, sapping my strength and causing severe headaches, bearing-down pains and a general worn-out feeling, until I really had no desire to live. I had many medicines recommended to me and tried many, but did not get permanent relief until I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. In two months I was much better and stronger, and in four months I was well. Have had no more disagreeable discharge, no more pain; so I have every reason to praise 'Favorite Prescription.' I consider it without an equal for ills of women."

All the ingredients entering into Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription are printed in plain English on each bottle wrapper. Dr. Pierce thereby shows that he is not afraid to tell his patients just what this medicine is made of. This is not true of any other medicine especially designed for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments. This "Prescription" is also the only woman's medicine sold through druggists that does not contain a large percentage of alcohol; it contains not a drop.

As an indication of the high esteem in which the medical profession are coming to regard the several ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for weak and ailing women is composed, we have room here to insert only the following:

Dr. John Fyfe, of Saugatuck, Conn., Editor of the Department of Therapeutics in THE ELECTRIC REVIEW says of Unicorn root (Helonias Dioica) one of the chief ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription: "A remedy which invariably acts as a uterine invigorator and always favors a condition which makes for normal activity of the entire reproductive system, cannot fail to be of great usefulness and of the utmost importance to the general practitioner of medicine."

"In Helonias we have a medicament which more fully answers the above purposes than any other drug with which I am acquainted. In the treatment of diseases peculiar to women it is seldom that a case is seen which does not present some indication for this remedial agent."

"The following are among the leading indications for Helonias: Pain or aching in the back, with leucorrhœa; atonic (weak) conditions of the reproductive organs of women, mental depression and irritability, associated with chronic diseases of the reproductive organs of women, constant sensation of heat in the region of the kidneys; menorrhagia, ("flooding") due to a weakened condition of the reproductive system; amenorrhœa, arising from or accompanying an abnormal condition of the digestive organs and an anæmic (thin blood) habit; dragging sensations in the extreme lower part of the abdomen."

If more or less of the above symptoms are present, no invalid women can do better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, one of the leading ingredients of which is Unicorn root, or Helonias.

MEN AND WOMEN

should have a medical book handy, for knowledge is power. They should know about anatomy and physiology. They should have a book that treats of the sexological relations of both sexes out of and in wedlock, as well as how and when to advise son and daughter. Has unequaled endorsement of the press, ministry, legal and medical professions. The main cause of unhappiness, ill-health, sickly children, and divorce is admitted by physicians and shown by court records to be the violation of the laws of self and sex. NEW YORK STOCKS WEAK, CLOSING AT THE LOWEST

Disturbance in Russia and Depression in the Foreign Markets the Chief Factors—Local Securities Remained Very Dull.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The New York stock market was weak yesterday and prices closed at the lowest of the day. For a time Wall street fought against a combination of unfavorable foreign developments with more or less success, and the support that was given the higher class railroad stocks encouraged bull traders, but later in the afternoon the publication of an interview with Mr. E. H. Harriman, freshly returned from the orient, was construed as bearish. He hinted at competitive railroad building in the west and made other references that might be construed as disclosing friction between the Harriman and Hill roads. The professional traders seized upon this interview as a pretext for making a small raid upon the market, and with few exceptions, all the early gains were wiped out.

The chief factor in the market, however, was the news from abroad. Public and private advices indicated a very serious condition of affairs in Russia, and the apprehension was reflected in the Paris market and in the decline of Russian 4s in the London market. The bonds yesterday sold at 90. On Wednesday they sold at 93. A few weeks ago, when peace was concluded, they sold above 95. Last summer when Russia suffered its worst defeat in the war with Japan, Russian 4s barely touched 86½. It was pointed out that the decline of the past few days was more violent than that which occurred during the darkest days of the war. Private cables reported that the proposed Russian loan had been indefinitely postponed. While information relating to this loan has not been very full, it was reported from Paris early in the week that the new bonds would be offered for subscription at 91. With the old 4s selling at 90, it can be readily understood that the new subscriptions would not be urgent at 91. In the London market English consols sympathized with the weakness and declined ⅜ per cent.

It is estimated that London sold 100,000 shares American stocks in Wall street during the day. The early selling was not heavy, but was resumed late in the day, which conveyed the impression that the situation abroad had grown worse instead of better. France is Russia's financier, and anything which disturbs the industrial or political situation in Russia would unfavorably affect the Paris market. London being the great international market, would have to take care of the liquidation which might occur by French investors, and would in turn sell American securities. This is what London did yesterday.

The foreign selling was well taken care of during the early part of the day, and the special strength in American Smelting and a few other stocks gave the whole market a steadier tone than might have been looked for. Smelting was the only member of the industrial group to close higher, its gain being 1½ per cent. The only important gain in the railroad list was 1¾ per cent for Northern Pacific. The other standard railroad stocks all closed lower. Union Pacific lost 1 per cent, Southern Pacific 1½, New York Central 1 per cent, and the others fractional amounts. The United States Steel stocks were ⅛@⅜ lower at the close. Amalgamated Copper lost a small fraction. General Electric closed at a decline of 1 per cent.

Call loan rates were easy and unchanged at 3½@4 per cent, but the general belief is that gold exports will occur next week and that money rates will also advance over the end of the month. The estimates of the money movement during the week were conflicting, and it is impossible to forecast today's bank statement.

Dullness continued to be the prominent feature of the local stock market. With a few exceptions, price changes were unimportant, and the market closed fairly steady. Pittsburgh Coal preferred sold down to 55½, a loss of 1½ per cent, and River Coal preferred declined to 24½. On the other hand, River Coal bonds sold at 110, an advance of ½ per cent. Pittsburgh Coal common was unchanged at 15½. Westinghouse Electric developed considerable weakness just before the close, and after selling at 85, a decline of ¾, was offered at 84¾, with 84 the best bid at the close. The Brewing issues were dull but steady. Less than a hundred shares each of Crucible Steel common and preferred changed hands, and both issues closed slightly lower. Lustre Mining rallied a dollar a share to 35, while Tonopah Extension sold unchanged at 36. There was very little doing in natural gas shares and prices closed nominally unchanged. Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Connellsville 5s sold to the extent of $25,000 at 104½, an advance of 1½ per cent. Bank for Secured Savings sold at 165, an advance of a dollar a share.

FEATURES OF THE DAY

IN PITTSBURGH

Bank exchanges increased $1,700,000 for the day.

Stock market dull and price changes were unimportant.

Pittsburgh Coal preferred closed 1½ lower at 55½.

River Coal preferred declined ½ and the bonds advanced ½.

Westinghouse Electric offered down to 84¼ at the close.

IN WALL STREET

Stocks closed weak at the lowest prices of the day.

The depression was a reflex of disturbance in foreign financial circles.

Smelting common and Northern Pacific the only stocks to close higher.

Sales included $14,500 shares stock and $3,162,000 bonds.

Call loan rates easy, but gold exports are in prospect.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Private wire advices from Wall street commission houses after the close of the market yesterday indicated a feverish and probably lower market for stocks today. The tone will be affected by the London and continental cables received this morning. The renewal of selling by London during the late trading yesterday was interpreted as reflecting unfavorable news from Russia, which had not become public properly when the stock market closed. Still, Wall street has found on previous occasions that Russian news is usually exaggerated. On Saturday, January 21, this year, Wall street went home practically convinced that a general revolution would be in progress before the following Monday. On the intervening Sunday a massacre of Russian citizens occurred, but there was no revolution. Another influence in today's short market will be the bank statement. The agencies which collect statistics and try to forecast the official figures utterly failed to agree upon results yesterday. The change in loans, which is anybody's guess, may have a determining effect upon the tone of the stock market. There is some expectation of an increase in this item, due to the activity in speculation during the week.

Electric stocks were among the weakest of the industrials yesterday and closed at the lowest, notwithstanding all the reports speak of large orders and works running full. During the week ended September 29, 1905, the Westinghouse Company received orders for eight steam turbines with a total of 5,500 K. W. power. These orders were distributed among four different companies and included one order from the Pennsylvania railroad for four 600 K. W. turbines. In spite of the expansion in the demand for steam turbines the Westinghouse company has experienced no falling off in the sale of steam engines. Within the past few weeks orders have been booked for 15 steam engines with a total of 19,750 horse power. The largest single order was that received from the Tehuantepec railway of Mexico for four marine and two standard engines for the power houses.

Carothers & Co. sold $10,000 River Coal 5s to Whitney, Stephenson & Co. and C. L. McCutcheon, and bought $20,000 Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Connellsville 6s from Robinson & Orr.

Gross earnings of Rock Island for September increased $601,504 and net earnings increased $21,128.

The Bisbee copper stocks were weak yesterday, and in one or two instances were offered down sharply. It was surmised that some of the selling was with the purpose of underselling a new proposition which it is understood to be well under way.

Mr. George I. Whitney yesterday confirmed the report from Salisbury, N. C., that the Whitney company had closed a contract for furnishing power for the operation of the mills of the Cannon syndicate, located at Albemarle and Concord. The mills owned and operated by the Cannon syndicate, including the famous Wiscasset, are among the most recently erected in the south, and comprise one of the largest cotton manufacturing interests in the country. The contract calls for about 6,000 horse power, from which the Whitney company will realize between $125,000 and $135,000 per annum. The company has now under consideration other contracts for the sale of power, and from present indications will have signed up for a large percentage of its first installation of 40,000 horse power by the time the plant is completed. It is estimated that the first 15,000 horse power sold will carry the interest on the issue of $4,500,000 bonds and take care of working expenses, leaving 25,000 horse power remaining from the initial installation. Within a radius easily reached by the Whitney company's plant there are 237 cotton mills alone using about 73,000 steam horse power, and since the largest and most progressive of these has already signed up for its entire requirements, other mill owners are anxious to cover their needs in this respect. At the present time more than a thousand men are working night and day under the direction of the contractors, the T. A. Gillespie Company, to complete the Whitney company plant as rapidly as possible.

Mulcahy wired from San Francisco to A. E. Masten & Co. after the close of the market: "Returned yesterday from extended trip to Tonopah, Goldfield and Bullfrog. I cannot understand why the good mining stocks are selling so low, with enough ore on many of the dumps to pay the stocks at present values, not taking into consideration the ore in the mines. Tonopah Extension, Belmont, Montana, Midway, Big Tonopah, North Star, West End, Montgomery, Shoshone, Gold Bar are dirt cheap, basing my opinion upon actual value in sight."

Should the internal conditions in Russia remain as disturbed as at present, or should they, as seems not impossible, assume the form of a revolution, the flotation of the Russian loan would be indefinitely postponed, the Paris market would be seriously affected and the reflection of this would undoubtedly appear on this side.

North Butte was an active feature of the Boston market yesterday, 2,600 shares changing hands within the first half hour and 7,500 shares up to 1 p. m. The price rallied from 56½ to 57¾ and closed at 57¼ bid.

The New York Central has placed orders for 25,000 new freight cars, thus exceeding the recent order of the Pennsylvania for 21,000 cars, which has been the record. The order, which is partly for steel and partly for wooden cars, calls the expenditure of probably $25,000,000.

An official of the Chicago subway is quoted as saying that no statement of earnings will be issued till after January 1. The city's investigation of the company's books thus far developed that it has 16 accounts for the removal of ashes, garbage and hauling coal. No other business has been done prior to October 1, and it is believed that the receipts will not foot up more than $70,000.

Following is the ticket for directors to be voted upon at the annual meeting of the Pittsburgh Brewing Company on November 8: Leopold Vilsack, H. E. Wainwright, F. W. Mueller, Fred Gwinner, T. F. Straub, Joseph A. O'Neill, Marcus Aaron, William Ruske, A. A. Frauenheim. Advisory committee—S. J. Wainwright, Jr.

The strong upward movement of Standard Oil in the curb market was a subject of comment and had some influence in keeping the midday stock market firm.

Exports of copper for the week ending October 26 were 4,001 tons, a total so far this month of 14,984 tons.

The Seaboard Air Line reports for August a surplus after charges of $18,829, a decrease of $15,885. From July 1 to August 31 a surplus after fixed charges of $78,621, an increase of $67,587.

Japanese bonds in New York were active, sales of all issues footing up $694,000. Prices closed a shade lower.

Exports of wheat for the week rose 1,435,627 bushels over those for last week, and there were reports of very urgent demand for vessel room for further shipments in prospect. This development did not affect the strength of the foreign exchange market.

MARKETS ARE STEADY AND THE TRADE GOOD

Few Changes Reported in Prices. Sugar Is Firm, Although a Break Is Looked For.

Markets were rather quiet yesterday, despite the fact trade was good. There were few changes in prices and no great demand for any one article. Provisions of all sorts were sought by buyers in preparation for Saturday's business.

Walnuts are flooding the market and on this account there was a drop in the price during the day. A large number of walnuts were brought in on the arriving steamers yesterday.

There is a good demand for chickens of all kinds, both dressed and alive.

Sugar is still firm, although a break is looked for soon. The scarcity of beans continues.

According to reports from the northwest, the quantity of flour shipped last week was greater than for some time, but this is not helping the local market any, as the cars are tied up and arrivals here are few and far apart.

Clover seed took a jump yesterday and timothy seed was lowered in price.

Butter is remaining firm, although an advance is looked for in a few days. Eggs and cheese are also firm, with a strong demand for cheese.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts yesterday were: Pennsylvania, 44 cars hay, 19 cars oats, 4 cars corn, 6 cars feed, 4 cars rye. Baltimore & Ohio, 10 cars hay, 6 cars oats, 2 cars corn, 3 cars feed. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 11 cars hay, 3 cars oats, 1 car corn.

The market was active, especially on corn and oats. Prices are continually advancing. The strong demand for hay, oats and corn continues. Receipts yesterday were fair and were taken up immediately upon arrival.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

BUTTE, MONT., Oct. 27.—In September the Butte mines yielded 409,006 tons of ore and 26,970,000 pounds of copper. To each pound of copper there was a bi-product value of 2½ cents. The following table shows the daily output—tons of ore, value in copper by pounds per ton and the total copper by pounds:

Companies—	Daily Tons per Day.	Pounds per Ton.	Total Daily Yield.
Boston and Montana	3,000	70	210,000
Anaconda	4,400	55	242,000
Butte and Boston	600	63	37,800
Parrot	550	68	37,400
Washoe	800	70	56,000
Trenton	600	58	34,800
North Butte	600	140	84,000
United Copper	1,500	70	90,000
Clark mines	1,100	70	77,000
Miscellaneous	500	60	30,000

The following table shows the total ore yield and total copper production for the month:

Companies—	Tons of Ore.	Pounds of Copper.
Boston and Montana	90,000	6,300,000
Anaconda	132,000	7,260,000
Butte and Boston	18,000	1,134,000
Parrot	16,800	1,122,000
Washoe	26,000	1,820,000
Trenton	18,000	1,044,000
North Butte	18,000	2,520,000
United Copper	45,000	2,700,000
Clark mines	38,000	2,310,000
Miscellaneous	15,000	900,000
Totals	409,500	26,970,000

The rich yield of North Butte is due to the fact that only a very high grade of ore is being mined while the shaft is being retimbered and the ore is hoisted though the shaft of the High Ore mine, one of the Anaconda properties. It will be a month or six weeks before the shaft is completed and then the output will be increased fully 30 per cent. The general average of the ore of the North Butte group is double the value of any other ore at present mined in the Butte district, and the officials of the company claim there is an unlimited supply of it.

A new company known as the East Butte has been organized for the purpose of consolidating 10 or 12 producing mines in the southeastern portion of the Butte district. The company will take in all the territory lying between the great Pennsylvania mine of the Boston and Montana Company and the Kane shaft of the Butte and Boston. Within the territory already secured are 19 producing shafts, but the claims are all small with the exception of the Oneida, which is a full mining claim. Among the properties already taken in are the Yankee Boy with a 250-ton concentrator, the Mary McLane, Oneida, Dutton, Symon and two others not made public. All these properties are in the richest part of the Butte district, and several fortunes have been made from metal mined from the surface. The shafts are from 50 to 200 feet deep and ore is being taken from all of them. The ground is surrounded by the Pennsylvania, Glengarry, J. I. C., Kane, Silver Bow Nos. 1, 2 and 3, and Heinze's Belmont. It is predicted that the East Butte will rival North Buttes as a producer. Butte and Boston and New York men are interested in the new company.

In the October copper tables for Butte the Pittsburgh and Montana Company will figure as a producer. Its new smelting plant was started up a week ago and has been running successfully since. It is treating 120 tons of ore daily and producing copper at the rate of 575,000 pounds a month or 10,000,000 tons a year. The smelter treats ore by a new process and Manager Baggaley expects to revolutionize smelting. The plant is not yet perfect, nor is it completed. When it is the output will be greatly increased.

The Wool Market.

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—The Commercial Bulletin will say of the wool market tomorrow: A decided awakening of interest in the market has taken place during the past week. Woolen mills have been active, having bought lines of Delaine XX and X fleeces as well as some lots of territory, California and Texas eight months wools. Buyers from worsted mills in different parts of the country have been around sizing up conditions, and while their purchases have not been substantial action of importance on the part is expected before long. Holders of Delaines are easier in their views, as is shown by sales at 37½c recently made.

The shipment of wools from Boston to date from December 29, 1904, according to the same authority are 200,903,779 pounds, against 192,326,075 pounds at the same time last year. The receipts to date are 283,080,197 pounds, against 230,877,197 pounds for the same period last year.

The Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The volume of trade in the drygoods market today increased somewhat, owing to the fact that the increase in the material caused buyers to take more interest in the situation. In some instances buyers operated further ahead than they were inclined to a week ago.

RUSSIA KEEPS WHEAT IN CONTINUOUS WHIRL

Turmoil Characterizes the Day's Operations in the Chicago Pit.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—The politico-industrial crisis in Russia kept the wheat pit here in a turmoil today. After prices had ranged from 1c above yesterday's final quotations to 1c below, the market closed weak at almost the lowest point of the session. For the May option the net loss was ⅝c. December is down ⅛c. Corn is off ⅝c. Oats show a loss of ½c and provisions 5 to 7½c.

Extreme fluctuations marked trading in the wheat pit. The volume of business was of large proportions. As a result of an advance of 1⅝c to 1⅞c in the price of wheat at Liverpool, the market here opened strong with May up a shade to 95@95⅛c at 91⅝c to 92¼c. December opened unchanged to ⅛c higher at 83½c to 90c. Demand was extremely active. Commission houses had come into possession of an almost unlimited number of buying orders over night. The orders had apparently been placed in large part by foreigners, and by that part of the American public which is quick to enter the market when an occasion like the present develops. The sharp advance, however, brought out realizing sales of a wholesale kind. Toward the end of the first half hour the market yielding to continuous profit-taking, some reaction occurred. Offerings then seemed to suddenly cease, and prices again started upward. A cablegram from a prominent banker in London claiming that all business in Odessa had been suspended owing to the strike disorders caused a fresh outburst of buying. The price of the May delivery jumped to 95¾c, while December went up to 90¼c. Throughout the remainder of the session the market was decidedly nervous. Fluctuations in prices being ⅛c to ⅛c between trades. During the last half hour the market became notably depressed in consequence of general profit-taking. Prices sank lower and lower, until May had touched 90⅛c and December 83¾c. The market closed weak with May at 90¼@90⅜c. Final quotations on December were 84⅛c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 501,500 bushels. Exports for the week, as shown by Bradstreets, were equal to 4,267,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 1,197,500 bushels, compared with 1,289,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 846 cars against 727 cars last week, and 839 cars a year ago.

General liquidation caused weakness in the corn market. There was no change in the general situation surrounding the market. Local receipts were light, export demand was urgent and stocks exceedingly low. The high prices prevailing, however, started active realizing which resulted in a considerable decline. The market closed weak with prices at the lowest point of the day. December opened ⅛c to ½c higher, at 49½c to 49⅝c, sold off to 45¾c and closed at the bottom. Local receipts were 127 cars, with 28 of contract grade.

The situation in the oats pit was similar to that in the corn market, the feature being active selling by longs. Demand was not urgent as of late. As a result the market had a weak undertone. The close was at the lowest point of the day. December opened unchanged to ½c lower at 30½c to 30⅝c, sold off to 30¼c and closed at 30¼c. Local receipts were 223 cars.

Provisions were a trifle easier on selling credited to local packers. A decline of five cents in the price of live hogs was a depressing influence. Weakness of corn helped another bearish factor. At the close January pork was off 5@7½c at $12 85. Lard was down 2½c at $6 77½. Ribs 5c lower at $6 45. Estimated receipts, for tomorrow: Wheat, 90 cars; corn, 155 cars; oats, 250 cars; hogs, 12,000 head.

REPORTS ARE FAVORABLE ON TRADE CONDITIONS

Needed Decline in Temperature Has Stimulated Drygoods Market. Little Idle Machinery Found.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say: Almost without exception, reports are favorable regarding the nation's commercial progress. A needed decline in temperature has stimulated distribution of wearing apparel and other seasonable merchandise, relieving anxiety that heavy stocks would be carried over at the end of the season. Some wholesalers are receiving supplementary orders in these lines, but as a rule duplicate business has not become general. There is no decrease in the inquiries for spring shipments from jobbers, and little idle machinery is found in the leading manufacturing industries. Production and consumption of steel is at a new maximum, without the unsettling influence of a return to the inflated prices of a few years ago. The railways have been purchasing new equipment freely, yet there is the usual delay in moving freight that has apparently become inevitable at this season. Textile mills are well occupied, although the labor situation is more uncertain, the tenants' strike had a tendency to interrupt business. Shoe shipments from Boston have now risen to within 10,000 cases of the movement to date in 1903; all other years being far surpassed. A sharp advance in prices of leading farm staples was accompanied by the greatest activity of the season in option

STARK IS HEAD OF RAILWAY CLUB

D. F. Crawford Is Elected, but Resigns—Pennsylvania Passenger Men Meet.

P. & L. E. ORDERS 2,500 CARS

The annual election of the Railway club of Pittsburgh last night resulted in the choice of D. F. Crawford as president, but he tendered a letter of resignation and F. H. Stark was chosen for the office. Mr. Crawford is general superintendent of motive power of the Pennsylvania lines west and found that his official duties are too arduous to allow his taking the direction of the Railway club. Mr. Stark, the new president, who succeeds L. H. Turner, is superintendent of rolling stock of the Pittsburgh Coal Company.

L. H. Turner, who retires after serving for two years as vice president and the past two years as president, was given a testimonial of appreciation from the members of the club for his earnest work for the organization. This testimonial was in the form of a fine gruenface gold watch, a chain and a charm with diamond set. On the reverse side of the watch and charm were carved Mr. Turner's initials. The presentation was made by E. M. Herr, vice president of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, for the club. Mr. Turner made an appreciative reply.

Forty-one new members were installed, bringing the membership up to about 680. The other officers elected were: First vice president, D. J. Redding; second vice president, E. B. Gilbert; executive committee, F. R. McFeatters, J. F. Prendergast, G. E. Carson; finance committee, H. B. Ayers, R. Evans, Charles Lindstrom; membership committee, A. M. Schroyer, Stephen C. Mason, Robert H. Blackall, R. A. Bole, J. B. Safford; secretary, J. D. Conway, and treasurer, J. D. McIlwain. Messrs. Conway and McIlwain have served in their respective offices since the club was formed in 1901.

The addresses were by ex-Judge Elliott Rodgers, general counsel of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, and George A. Post, president of the Standard Coupler Company of New York. Judge Rodgers spoke of the importance of Allegheny county and the value of the railroads in it. Mr. Post spoke entertainingly and ended by giving a word for "the man that sells," saying that such men ought to be given the degree of commercial engineer.

Surprises for Dillon and Young.

It was a quite elaborate menu that confronted the members of the Denver club and several guests, including District Passenger Agents J. K. Dillon and Harry Young of the Pennsylvania lines and Rock Island systems, respectively, when they gathered in the rooms of Gen. John E. Clark post 162, G. A. R., in Allegheny, Thursday night. The 100 people in attendance thought they were to be given one of the most elaborate formal banquets ever enjoyed, but they were pleasantly surprised by the special committeemen, John S. Nichol and Joseph W. Boyd, when a fare of army beans, hardtack and coffee in tin cups was set before them on the table that was nicely decorated and formed in the shape of a letter D. When "chess" was over and all were feeling fine from the surprise and good fellowship, Mr. Nichol solemnly passed a box of fine looking cigars. Immediately the men fell to striking matches and endeavoring to light the cigars, but only about every other man could get a light. The cigars had been sent from Denver especially for the occasion and were intended as dummies. Then the lobtes were passed and all went well until several exploded almost simultaneously. In front of Messrs. Dillon and Young were two huge fire crackers, which they were asked to light. They did so only to be slightly frightened by a fizz followed by a "devil in the sand box" arrangement springing up before them. On a part of the thing was fastened a handsome scarf pin for each of the agents. The pins were made of Colorado gold and set with a Colorado stone. The banquet and pins were given in return for courtesies extended by Dillon and Young during the club's recent trip to the encampment at Denver.

Passenger Men in Session.

The semi-annual meeting of the passenger traffic officers and representatives of the Pennsylvania railroad was held yesterday at the Hotel Schenley, about 50 men being in attendance. Papers were presented by Assistant General Passenger Agent W. W. Lord, Jr., of the lines east at Philadelphia. The papers were discussed by a number of the officers and agents. Aside from the papers the day was taken up with consideration of phases of passenger business of particular import to the Pennsylvania. The meeting was attended by Passenger Traffic Manager J. R. Wood and General Passenger Agent George W. Boyd of the lines east and Passenger Traffic Manager E. A. Ford and General Passenger Agent Moody of the lines west and all of the staff men, including the division and foreign passenger agents, Mr. Wood presided.

The banquet was held last night at the Schenley, Mr. Ford being toastmaster. Responses were made in an informal manner by a number of the men, including several guests. One of the interesting features of the banquet was the rendition of "The Pennsylvania Special," a two-step march composed by Bandmaster F. N. Innes and dedicated to Col. Moody. A copy of this piece of music is given to each patron of the famous 18-hour train.

Vice Presidents Go Inspecting.

The Wheeling and Chartiers branches of the Pittsburgh division of the Panhandle were inspected yesterday by the vice president and general manager of the Pennsylvania lines west. These divisions were not included in the recent inspection that was made by President Cassatt and the officers, and the Wheeling branch was not included in the general manager's inspection. It was said that no significance in the way of improvements attached to the trip of the officers yesterday. In the party were Vice Presidents James McCrea, Joseph Wood, J. J. Turner and Edward B. Taylor, General Manager Peck and Superintendent P. A. Bonebrake.

Cars for Pittsburgh & Lake Erie.

The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad Company has just awarded a contract for 2,500 freight cars for delivery in 1906. The order was a portion of the general New York Central lines' order for 25,000 cars, which was placed by Vice President W. C. Brown. This is the largest single car order ever placed, bettering the recent Pennsylvania order by 4,000 cars. The Central will have further orders to place. Of the general order the Pullman Company will build 10,000 cars; Haskell & Baker, 7,500; Pressed Steel Car Company, 3,000; Western Steel Car & Foundry Company, 2,000; American Car & Foundry Company, 2,500. The cars will cost about $25,000,000.

Special Trains on Pennsylvania.

The Pennsylvania lines will have three special vestibuled coach trains today. One of these trains, consisting of eight coaches and two baggage cars, will carry about 500 members of the Engineers' society of Western Pennsylvania to Sharon and return, the men to be the guests of the Mackintosh-Hemphill company. Another train will carry the Canadian school teachers to East Pittsburgh and other points to visit the industries. The third train will carry the Case School of Science football team and students from Cleveland to Columbus and return, there being 400 in the party.

New Wabash Agent at Wheeling.

Samuel A. Cunningham has been appointed freight agent of the Wabash lines at Wheeling to succeed the late Charles Q. Porter, who was agent for the Wheeling & Lake Erie there for several years. Mr. Cunningham has been located at Massillon and has been in the service of the Wheeling & Lake Erie road for 15 years. He is succeeded at Massillon by Agent Starns of Fremont, O., and the latter is succeeded by H. L. Price, who was agent at Terminal Junction, Wheeling.

Notable Gathering at Storrs' Funeral.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 27.—One of the most notable gatherings of railroad men ever convened in Cleveland was that today at the funeral of H. S. Storrs, late general superintendent of the Lake Shore railroad. The Lake Shore and the Nickle Plate offices were closed at noon. The officers and clerks of both companies attended as a body. In addition high officials of the Lake Shore, Erie, Pennsylvania and other roads were present from New York, Chicago, Toledo, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Boston and other points.

Railroad Notes.

A. W. Tiddy, traveling passenger agent of the Baltimore & Ohio, returned from an extended trip through his territory north of here.

W. H. Allston, chief clerk of the Panhandle freight office at Carnegie, has resigned to accept a similar position with the Pennsylvania Smelting Company at that place.

Supt. A. J. Johnson and General Passenger Agent E. O. Lapey of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh, who were in Pittsburgh Thursday night, returned north yesterday morning.

Royall L. Scoville, manager of the bond department of Scully, Painter & Beech, is en route to the west with Pittsburgh and other capitalists to make an inspection of the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient railroad, in which they invested.

H. H. Miller, Jr., son of Agent H. H. Miller of the Cumberland Valley railroad at Hagerstown, spent yesterday with Pittsburgh friends. Mr. Miller is returning from Denver, where he was in charge of the joint agency offices for the Western Passenger association in connection with the G. A. R. encampment business. He was identified with the joint validating agency at the Louisiana Purchase exposition.

John Runnette Secures E. F. Meek's Property in B Street for Allotment Purposes.

HILAND BUYS SITE FOR GARAGE

Another big real estate deal for Oakmont is the purchase by John Runnette of the E. F. Meeks property for $26,500. The plot fronts in four streets and is one of the few large parcels of frontage in the central part of Oakmont which is on the market. The total frontage in Sixth and Ninth streets is 637 feet and in B and C streets the plot has a frontage of 1,152 feet. The property runs back to the Children's home at Ninth street and is intersected by Seventh and Eighth streets. This makes it especially advantageous for plotting into residence lots, for which purpose it is reported to have been bought. Near the center of the lot stands an old frame house of 12 rooms which will be removed to allow for the proposed improvements.

Through the Commonwealth Real Estate Company the Hiland Automobile Company has bought 106x150 feet on the north side of Center avenue, near South Negley avenue, for $15,500. The property was secured from Mrs. Mary A. Thaw and title to it is taken by Dr. George A. Urling, president of the Hiland. On the lot the company proposes to build at once a very handsome two-story brick garage to cost $25,000. This will have nearly 30,000 square feet of floor space, or considerably more than double the room that the company now has in its garage at Baum and Beatty streets, opposite the house of the Automobile club of Pittsburgh. This building, which was erected when the company was organized one year ago, is on leased ground, and both the building and the lease will be sold as soon as the new structure is ready. The growth of the automobile business in Pittsburgh may be shown by the fact that during the last year seven companies have been organized in this city to manufacture or deal in autos and most of them have already or will soon build costly plants.

Suburban Activity Cause of Comment.

Compared with the city wards of Pittsburgh the suburban towns are evidencing an activity in real estate dealing that is remarkable. The resulting increase in values has been more marked, too, than in any part of the city proper outside the few downtown streets where prices have come up at an unprecedented rate. Bellevue has been with, perhaps, no exception, the busiest place around Pittsburgh this year, both in actual transfers of property and in building. The high-class improvements that have been started in almost every street of that borough have advanced values in a way that makes the 1902 and 1903 buyer very happy. Every suburb but the Panhandle is enjoying a healthy boom in real estate operations, although the sales reported are fewer than in Bellevue, Avalon, Ben Avon and the other Ft. Wayne suburbs. But building and street improvements are going forward at a rate that means higher prices next spring than have ever been asked before. The new borough of Beecnview and, in fact, the entire West Liberty district, has undergone a transformation during the last 15 months that is almost wonderful and to the stranger suggests very forcibly the wisdom of those who invested there "early in the game." Knoxville has enjoyed a house selling boom of no small proportions and there is hardly a house to be rented in the borough. On the hills back of Knoxville the public improvements under way and the anticipation of hustling allotment owners in making a district that in a few years at most will be fully as crowded as Knoxville. The growth of the sentiment toward the South Side hilltops for residence localities is brought out by the record-breaking sales of lots in the First ward of Brookline and by the steady sales that are being made every day in the Second ward in spite of the fact that it is late in the season and no sensational records were expected.

Fine Street Assured for Cheswick.

The work of widening Cheswick's main street, Freeport street, to a 50-foot thoroughfare and macadamizing it has just been started and the residents of that pretty little town are hoping all sorts of good things from the improvement. The work will cost about $16,000 and Cheswick, which has no bonded indebtedness, will issue bonds for $5,000 to help cover the cost of improvements. Sewers will be put in next spring. This Freeport street will thus connect at both ends with the county macadamized road which runs from Aspinwall to Tarentum and which is now one of the most popular ways in the vicinity of Pittsburgh for both automobiles and carriages. Surveys are said to be nearly completed on the street car line which will parallel this road. The increasing popularity of Cheswick as a suburban residence point is evidenced by the fact that property along Freeport street, in the heart of town, is now worth from $3,000 to $3,500 an acre, while three years ago it could have been bought for $1,000 an acre and 10 years ago only $100 an acre was asked.

Martha J. McClarren has secured title from Samuel A. Dickie to one of his new center hall brick residences on 49x201 feet on the north side of Walnut street, near Shady avenue, Twentieth ward, for which she paid $22,000.

It develops that the sale of the former Greenwald property at 1307-1309 Wylie avenue, which was published a few days ago, did not go through. The Aronson Realty Company is agent for the property, which belongs to Nathan Kaufmann.

Institution Sells Property.

Oakland: The Centenary Fund society sold to William C. Streiner an improved lot, 24x84 feet, on the east side of Pier street, near Oakland avenue, Fourteenth ward, for $2,300.

James W. Drape & Co. report the following sales: A five-room brick house and lots on the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago railroad, below Bellevue, for $41,000; two houses and lots in Penn avenue, which are said to have been exchanged for two houses and lots in Kelly street, near Homewood avenue, East End, the total consideration being $24,000. The same firm reports placing the following mortgages: $8,000 each on two houses and lots near Wilkinsburg; $6,000 on residence properties in Allegheny; $4,000, $3,500 $2,000, $1,600, $1,500 and $1,000 on residence property in the East End, Wilkinsburg, West Pittsburgh and Pitcairn, the rate being reported as 6 per cent.

FESTIVAL OF RELIGION OPENS IN CITY TOMORROW

Entire Week Will Be Devoted to the Meetings Addressed by Noted Evangelists.

The great religious revival which will start tomorrow in nearly all of the churches of the Christian denomination in Pittsburgh and vicinity, will bring to the city scores of ministers and evangelists.

A fall rally will be held at the Eighth United Presbyterian church, Perrysville avenue, Allegheny, tomorrow evening. The theme will be "Everyday Religion; Daily Practice of Christian Principles." Mrs. E. P. McClain will conduct the praise service.

Two ministers will preach their farewell sermons in this city tomorrow. The Rev. William Surdival will for the last time occupy the pulpit of the Welsh Congregational church, South Side, he having accepted a call to the Congregational church at Gomer, O. He has been pastor of the South Side church for seven years. The Rev. J. W. Romeck, who has been pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran church, Allegheny, for five years, severs his connection to accept a call to the First Lutheran church at Pueblo, Col.

PITTSBURGHERS OUTBID STANDARD OIL MEN

DENVER, COL., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—Outbidding H. H. Rogers and other Standard Oil capitalists, the Pittsburgh Gold Zinc Mining Company, headed by Capt. A. Hicks, has secured the Iron Mask group of mines in Eagle county. Rogers bid $300,000 for the group. From one pocket in the group the Baltimore Company, which has been working the mine, took out $250,000.

UNIONS' FIGHT DELAYS HOTEL

Trouble Between Rival Organizations Is Aired Before Judge Robert S. Frazer.

JURY VIEWS RAILROAD ROUTE

Judge Frazer heard the details of the fight between labor unions at work on the new Annex hotel in Penn avenue, and will hand down a decision on the suit for an injunction this morning. Meanwhile the restraining order granted W. J. Stevenson against James Stewart & Co. remains in force. By it he and his workmen are restrained from interfering with Stevenson's men who are setting the tile, marble and stair treads for the Columbian Marble and Quarrying Company. The Stewart company is the supervising contractor.

The jury in the case of the West Side Belt Railroad Company, being tried in criminal court for utilizing a public road against the interests of the property owners and taxpayers, went over the route of the road which it is alleged the railroad took possession of yesterday.

Notes Were Not Paid.

Sydney F. McKinnon of Toronto, Can. filed a statement of claim in the United States circuit court against Kell Long of Connellsville. He alleges that Long in November, 1904, made a promissory note for $3,185, payable to himself and delivered the note to the International Mercantile Agency, of which McKinnon is a representative. When the note matured it was presented at the Second National bank of Connellsville for collection and payment was refused.

McKinnon also entered a like claim against H. E. Smythe of Pittsburgh to recover $9,500 on three notes which Smythe had made out to the order of the International Mercantile agency and on which payment was refused.

The Shuff case had another inning before United States Commissioner Gamble yesterday afternoon. Only two witnesses testified, George Earl and George H. Frazier, directors of the Philadelphia Company, who were examined as to the rights and privileges of the local railway systems when they were purchased by the Philadelphia Company. The hearing will be resumed Monday.

Mrs. Katherine McKee, widow of Samuel McKee, filed a bill in equity against the Allegheny cemetery for the reconveyance of a lot in the cemetery, which, it is alleged, the cemetery holds in trust, to her.

Explosion Victims Ask Large Sums.

The victims of the natural gas explosion at Thirty-ninth street and Liberty avenue on July 17 last, filed suits yesterday against the Peoples Natural Gas Company to recover $75,800 damages. The amounts claimed and the suits are as follows: Margaret Dillon, $2,000; John J. Dillon, $1,600; Frank F. Dillon, $1,000; Thomas T. Dillon, $300; John J. Dillon, administrator of Thomas Dillon, $1,500; Frank F. Dillon, $10,000; heirs of Thomas Dillon, $25,000; heirs of Margaret Dillon, $25,000, and heirs of Margaret Dillon for destruction of property, $10,000.

John William Bensen, by his will, provides for the payment of the interest on $500 to the Colored Baptist church of Howard street, Allegheny, as long as it remains a regular Baptist church. This interest is to be applied to the pastor's salary. A similiar amount was to be placed at interest for the Reform church, known as Bean's church, Somerset county, and another $500 was left in the same way for the poor fund of the Christian church of Arch street, Allegheny, but a codicil revokes both of these paragraphs of the will. The estate is valued at $21,500 and other bequests are as follows: Milton Sterm, a grandson, $2,000 when he is 25, the interest meanwhile to be applied to his education. Mrs. James A. Shirk, $250; Mrs. Nora May, $250; Mrs. Lizzie Phillips, $250; Mrs. Abraham Bean, $500.

Church Applies for Charter.

The St. Anthony First Magyar Greek Catholic congregation has applied for a charter. Attorney T. Mercer Molton is the solicitor.

An order was handed down refusing a new trial in the suit of L. S. Strosser against Amost Steck, in which the plaintiff was given a verdict of $90,258 14. The suit was an action on options for coal lands in Washington county.

Executions issued: James S. Kerr, trustee, vs. Peter Molan, $6,000; First National bank of Allegheny, vs. Ellite Laundry Company, $997.

M'KINLEY CASE UP.

Fight Between Coal Company and National Bank Again Before Supreme Court.

The supreme court heard a number of arguments yesterday. Among them was the case of the First National bank, appellant, vs. the McKinley Coal Company, William H. McKinley and Ernest H. McKinley. In 1902 the bank obtained a judgment against the McKinley Coal Company for $71,659 11. Later it filed a bill against William H. and Ernest H. McKinley, alleging that the assets of the company had been disposed of without making provisions for the debt to the bank. Under this suit a decree was entered against the McKinleys requiring them to refund and repay so much of the stocks, bonds and assets of the company received by them as may be necessary to pay the judgment. This was appealed to the supreme court, which affirmed the decree. It is alleged that the McKinleys refused to comply with the decree and an attachment against them was asked for. Common pleas court No. 1 refused to grant the attachment and the bank appealed the case again. The appellees hold that this was not a subject for an attachment and that the court below had not found any fraud.

The list on Monday morning will open with two capital cases, to appeals of Frank Johnson of Lawrence county and of Charles Johnson of Bradford county.

The case of Hall, appellant, vs. the Pennsylvania railroad, has been transferred to the eastern district.

To Run Three Criminal Courts.

Three criminal courts will be opened on Monday morning and a determined effort will be made to clear up the calendar. Judge Patton of Armstrong county, will come to the city to sit in one of the courts, while Judges Macfarlane and Brown will be in the other two.

Mrs. Fiske's Engagement.

The role of Leah Kleschna, in C. L. S. McLellan's play of that name, and in which Mrs. Fiske will be seen at the Belasco theater next week, gives that noted actress an opportunity for one of those psychological studies of character for which she has become famous. She sees beneath the surface of the role and depicts more than the mere outward change that comes with Leah's abandonment of her criminal life. In her long career Mrs. Fiske has never given a more brilliant performance than as Leah Kleschna. Her stay here is limited to one week, with but one matinee—Saturday.

Shifter Damages Parlor Car.

As train No. 8, Atlantic express, on the Pennsylvania railroad, was pulling out of the Wilmerding station yesterday, a shifting engine, running light, ran into the rear end. The last car, a Pullman sleeper, was damaged, and the passengers were severely shaken up, but no one was injured, and neither the engine nor the car was thrown from the rails.

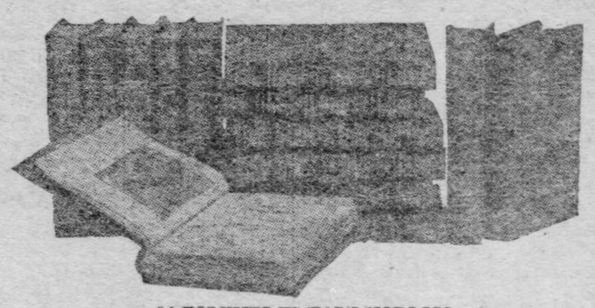
THEODORE ROOSEVELT

A FEW SETS OF HIS WRITINGS

AT THE COST OF MANUFACTURE!

On taking stock we find a few sets of the Prairie Edition of Mr. Roosevelt's writings in which some of the volumes are slightly damaged. Although we do not care to offer this as perfect merchandise, the damage does not in any way impair the value of the books. The bindings are a little rubbed, but there are no torn pages and no one but a bookman could discover the imperfections. WE ALSO HAVE A FEW PERFECT SETS ABSOLUTELY WITHOUT MARK OR BLEMISH.



14 VOLUMES IN HALF-MOROCCO

We can obtain no more of these sets and the total number on hand is so small that to clean our shelves rapidly we have determined TO CUT THE PRICE IN HALF AND SELL THEM ALL—perfect and imperfect—at a price that will hardly cover the cost of manufacture.

Politically and socially Mr. Roosevelt occupies an unique position, yet his prominence as a public man has not obscured his brilliancy as a man of letters. As Ranchman, Hunter, Rough-rider, Soldier, Governor and President he has impressed his personality upon this generation, yet in time to come his writings will constitute one of

THE CHIEF GLORIES OF HIS CAREER

Like every word and deed of Mr. Roosevelt, "The man who compelled peace," his writings are direct, forceful and interesting. Senator Beveridge says: "You feel the power of the man behind the writer and the charm of the writer with the man." Whoever begins the reading of these books is compelled by their strenuous interest to finish them.

Mr. Roosevelt's western stories cover every variety of sport which the great West affords. He has pursued game from Southern Texas to British Columbia. He has always loved an outdoor life, and the ways of the cowboys appeal to his sense of the picturesque as well as to his sense of humor.

This sumptuous edition of 14 volumes, strongly bound in gold-tooled half-morocco, gilt tops, finest paper and press work, will add to the appearance and interest of any library.
